HUNDREDS OF HOMES RAZED BY EXPLOSION

Waterfront At Otaru, Japan, Reported Ablaze Following Terrific Blast Which Levels Dwellings—One To Four Hundred Persons Killed.

(United Press.) OTARU, Japan, Dec. 27.—A terrific explosion of gun powder on the waterfront tonight killed 110 persons, injured 200 others and blew up 1,000 houses. Following the explosion fire swept along the waterfront, the whole frontage being ablaze. Otaru is on the northernmost tip of the island of Hokkaido.

It is a center of coastal fishing and has the best port on Yezo, a small island of the Japanese archipelago, connected by rail with Sapporo and with the Poronai coal mines in the interior. The river Ishikari-Gawa flows into the bay, on which Otaru is situated. The district is noted throughout Japan for its salmon. The city's population in 1910 was 25,354.

Deaths May Reach 400. (International News Service.) OTARU, Japan, Dec. 27.—A terrific explosion today in the Japanese port of Otaru, on the west coast of the island of Yezo, north of Nippon, main island of the Japanese archipelago, caused casualties estimated as low as 100 deaths and as high as 400, according to reports reaching Tokyo late tonight.

Definite figures are lacking. Up to a late hour tonight 50 mangled bodies had been recovered from the ruined area adjacent to the explosion center. Fifty injured are being treated in hospitals and a search is being carried on for scores of missing. Twenty small ships were sunk in the harbor and thirty buildings in the port were completely wrecked, the advices state.

Dynamite Dropped. The explosion was caused when a coiled dropped a case of dynamite while a gang of laborers were unloading 550 cases of explosive from the Japanese freighter Shoho Maru. The Otaru customs house and several other buildings along the waterfront were severely damaged. Panic-stricken thousands rushed pell mell into the narrow streets and the greatest confusion prevailed before a semblance of order was restored.

Otaru is one of the most important seaports of the empire. Report Fire Spreading. LONDON, Dec. 28.—(Sunday)—A serious fire is spreading from the harbor toward the heart of the city of Otaru, in northern Japan, following an explosion which occurred Saturday afternoon, according to dispatches received here early today. The explosion, which is said to have killed several hundred persons, occurred while a cargo of gunpowder was being unloaded. Dispatches from Tokyo say the immediate damage was very great and that the fire swept relentlessly forward, endangering the entire city.

BITTER COLD GRIPS STATE
Temperatures From 10 to 20 Degrees Below Reported By Burlington.

Dropping 2 degrees an hour since 4 p. m. Saturday, the coldest winter day in the state since the first of December, the thermometer registered last day Saturday was 1 below at 8 o'clock in the morning. From that time it dropped to 3 below and stayed there most of the day. The next drop was to 5 below at 3 o'clock, and at 6 p. m. it was 7 below.

Temperatures from 19 to 23 below were reported over the Lincoln division. The coldest region was near Grand Island and Cairo.

Japan Will Never War With America Lansing Believes

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 27.—"Japan will never make war upon the United States." This opinion was expressed today by Robert Lansing, former secretary of state in an interview with the Syracuse American at the residence of his sisters, the Misses Emma and Katherine Lansing, here where he and his wife visited today. "Japan division, the coldest region was near Grand Island and Cairo. The meetings last night were preceded by a supper in the dining room at 6:30.

Worst Storm In 100 Years Strikes Britain

CHANCELLOR OF KANSAS U. IS REMOVED

Dr. E. H. Lindley Ousted From His Position By Governor Davis and Board of Administration After Controversy.

FIVE COUNTS CITED BY STATE EXECUTIVE
Insubordination, Incompetency, Procrastination, Political Activity and Aloofness Are The Charges Made.

(United Press.) TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 27.—Chancellor E. H. Lindley of Kansas university, today was removed from his position by Gov. Jonathan M. Davis and the board of administration, following a controversy which arose when the chancellor suspended four university students charged with drinking. W. L. Burdick, vice chancellor of the university, was ordered to take charge after Lindley refused to relinquish his post at the request of the governor.

In a lengthy statement prepared this afternoon, Governor Davis cited Lindley on five counts—insubordination, incompetency, procrastination, political activity and aloofness from the student body and from patrons of the school.

Several weeks ago four men students of the university were suspended for alleged drinking after a party at the university.

Little Hope of Agreeing. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 27.—Gone tonight were the friendly little smiles and animated conversation that formerly marked the association of jurors in the case of "Kid" McCoy, tried on a charge of murdering Mrs. Theresa Mors.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the jury was still deadlocked in an effort to break the deadlock and reach a verdict. Although it was officially reported that the vote now

Spanish War Vets Of Lincoln Name Irle Commander

Members of William Lewis camp, United Spanish War Veterans met Saturday night at Walsh hall, and elected officers for 1925. While the veterans were holding their election the ladies auxiliary was also holding an election in an adjoining room.

The veterans elected the following: H. F. Irle, commander; O. E. Seelbach, senior vice commander; William Martin, junior vice commander; J. E. Baker, officer of the day; M. T. Trustees were elected as follows: F. D. Eager, one year; J. P. Bratt, two years; and Claude P. Hensel, three years.

The auxiliary election resulted as follows: Pearl Fassett, president; Caroline Sinebaugh, senior vice president; Bessie Grass, junior vice president; Mollie Woelhoff, chaplain; Flora Dunn, historian; Addie Irle, conductress; Maud Moyer, assistant conductress; Wilhelmina Johnson, guard; and Emma Pettit, assistant guard.

Installation of officers for both organizations will be held Saturday night, January 24, followed by the annual rabbit supper served by the auxiliary.

SEA WALLS ARE CRUSHED; RIVERS FLOOD VALLEYS

Sixty Mile An Hour Gale Causes Widespread Destruction and Damage Will Total Millions—Shipping Torn From Moorings and Many Homes Inundated.

(International News Service.) LONDON, Dec. 27.—Widespread destruction was being written into the history of the British Isles tonight by the worst storm in 100 years. A terrific sixty mile an hour gale has been blowing for hours and the weather bureau forecast it would continue.

The German trawler Hohe-lust was sunk off the coast of Scotland, eleven of the crew being drowned, Lloyd's announced tonight. No section appears to have escaped damage. Sea walls were crushed like eggshells, roofs were wrenched from houses, shipping was torn from its moorings, badly damaged and, at some ports, tossed high and dry on the beach.

A compilation tonight of accredited reports showed: Storm damage will total millions of dollars. Floods were sweeping the Rhymney valley in South Wales. Homes were under water and inhabitants of the district were seeking refuge on higher land.

The Thames river overflowed its banks at numerous places causing damage to homes and farms. In Ireland, the River Foyle was out of its banks and many homes were inundated.

The Cardiganshire coasts were hard hit and damage will reach a large sum, reports said. Cardiff roads were impassable and sea walls were leveled. Aberystwyth was partly under water and residents of the town were isolated. The body of a man believed to be the captain of the French steamer St. Caradoc was washed up on the Cardiganshire coast. The body of another man was found among the wreckage strewn along the coast.

Reading, England, reported thousands of acres of land under water. At Hull, a ferryboat was blown ashore and passengers were rescued with great difficulty. At the fashionable watering place of Ryde, on the island of Wight, a man and his wife were drowned. Smaller craft were tossed on the beach almost bodily.

SAY PINE TREE TO BE SHAKEN BY NEW YEAR'S

Governor-elect Works Selective Draft Plan to Fill Important Posts.

Governor-elect Adam McMullen is still carrying in his own bosom the secret as to who his chief lieutenants will be in the crew which is to take charge of Nebraska's ship of state January 8. Although it is nearly 8 weeks since election, he has made no public announcement as yet regarding a single one of the many appointments at his disposal.

Personal and political friends of the incoming governor think he will surely be heard from by New Year's day as to the principal places; but most of them admit they are as much in the dark about his intentions as anybody else. When the man of mystery at Beatrice does finally break his silence, it will bring deep disappointment to hundreds of persons who have been hoping to connect with the state payroll under his administration. It is generally realized that in all such matters men are called but few chosen; nevertheless, hope springs eternal in the place-hunter's breast until the "rude awaking" comes and he finds himself left out in the cold.

LINCOLN MAN MISSING SINCE DECEMBER 19

Officers Are Asked To Aid In Search For John P. O'Connor, Insurance Man Who Disappeared Over Week Ago.

John P. O'Connor, Lincoln insurance man living at 1912 Parke ave., has been missing from his home since December 19 and the state law enforcement department Saturday night was asked to make a search for him. Mrs. O'Connor told State Sheriff Tom Carroll that O'Connor was last seen at the Lincoln hotel on the afternoon of December 19 and that he told an acquaintance he was going to Omaha on business.

Mrs. O'Connor's efforts to find trace of her husband in Omaha through the aid of friends have been fruitless and local officers are now being asked to help find Mr. O'Connor. State Sheriff Carroll planned Saturday night to use the radio to send out a description of Mr. O'Connor.

Mrs. O'Connor could assign no reason for her husband's disappearance, she told State Sheriff Carroll. Mr. O'Connor was formerly in the hotel business at Sidney, Neb. At the time of his disappearance, Mr. O'Connor was wearing a new brown overcoat and brown shoes; light gray hat and brown suit. He is light complexioned, and has brown hair, combed straight back. Mr. O'Connor is a Spanish American war veteran and was an emblem of that organization in his coat lapel. He also wore a signet ring. He is 49 years old.

FOUR DEAD IN A GAS-FILLED ROOM

Woman, Two Children, and Brother Asphyxiated In New York Apartment.

HUSBAND MAY DIE—SEVEN VICTIMS FROM GAS IN A SINGLE DAY.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 27.—With all doors locked and barricaded with furniture and with illuminating gas escaping from the jets, the bodies of four persons, including two children, were discovered late today in a fifth avenue apartment house.

Three other deaths from gas occurred in New York today. Mystery shrouds the tragedy that snuffed out four lives. After smashing their way through a transom, police found the bodies of Mrs. Anna Hinkle, 38, her son, John, 7, her daughter, Catherine, 9, and her brother, Alvin Berkshire, 40.

The woman's husband, who was taken to a hospital, also may die. Investigation was immediately begun by Medical Examiner Martin. William Wahlburg, who lives in the house and who notified the police, was questioned. He said the odor of gas caused him to leave the apartment and when unable to get in he called the police.

Afterward Martin said he was not entirely satisfied that the deaths were accidental. Two men, known only as "Flanagan" and "Brannigan," were found dead today in a third avenue, New York lodging house. "Deaths were caused by illuminating gas in both cases."

The seventh victim was Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, 70, of 72 Seventh avenue.

Only One Man In Japan Who Earns Over $1,000,000

TOKIO, Dec. 27.—Japan has only one man whose annual income exceeds $1,000,000, according to income tax statistics just made public. This man is Baron Hisaya Iwasaki, president of Mitsubishi Goshi Kaisha, probably the largest importing and exporting firm in Japan. His annual income is given as 2,190,000 yen, which at par would amount to $1,095,000. He pays an income tax of approximately $275,000 annually.

FIND POSSIBLE CAUSE OF END OF BOY'S LIFE

Reported Physicians Who Examined Exhumed Body Found Solid Food, Often Fatal In Typhoid Cases, In Viscera.

(International News Service.) CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—The McClintock death probe took on a sinister aspect again tonight when it was reported that the physicians who performed the examination of Billy McClintock's exhumed body had found solid food, generally considered fatal in typhoid cases, in the viscera of the body.

The report gave no hint to place the blame for permitting McClintock to take solids as he lay fighting for life. The development is taken as giving an explanation of the statement of Judge Harry Olson, moving spirit of the investigation, that even if the doctors' report showed young McClintock had died of typhoid "it would be significant."

It has been pointed out since the probe started that the administration of solid food to a person suffering from the advanced stages of typhoid would be an almost indecipherable method of hastening their death. Solid food in such cases usually brings about hemorrhage, which of itself, brings elimination of the food from the body, physicians pointed out tonight. Thus even a post mortem examination many times fails to reveal the exact cause of death.

The official report of the doctors will be formally made to the coroner and at that time the exact nature of the findings will be made public. In the meantime, none of the principals in the investigation, those who were closest to young McClintock, would comment on the latest development.

Refuses to Elaborate. William Shepherd, foster father of young McClintock and chief beneficiary of his will, refused to elaborate on his statements made to the press earlier in the day on his return from the curtailed vacation at Albuquerque, N. M.

In an interview with newspapermen that Shepherd took occasion to place the stamp of "mercenaries" on Isabelle Pope, the girl whose death bed marriage to McClintock he admitted he forestalled by falsely informing her it was necessary for both contending parties to apply in person for a marriage license.

He charged the entire investigation of McClintock's death had been inspired by Miss Pope's dream of a fortune.

THINK RODMAN WILL BE CHOSEN

Say Omaha Man Is Leading In Race For Speaker of the House.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—State Representative James A. Rodman of Omaha probably will be speaker of the house in the coming 1925 legislative session.

Reports from out in the state indicate he is leading in the race for the speakership. He will have the active support of the Douglas county delegation.

If Rodman is elected, he will be the second Omaha man to preside over the house of representatives. Congressman G. J. Dwyer was speaker of the house in the 1901 session of the state legislature, twenty-four years ago.

Since that time no Omaha man has been a very serious contender for speaker. Rodman and the Omaha delegation to the legislature last year to Lincoln on Sunday, January 4. The legislature will convene for the first time on Tuesday, January 6. The republican party caucus to select the speaker will be held Monday night, January 5.

Chicago Chemist Killed By Holdups

CHICAGO, DEC. 27.—Two thugs shot and killed a man, a chemist, when he resisted an attempted hold up which occurred within two doors of his home here tonight.

Most Prosperous Year Since World War Now In Prospect

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The New Year begins next Thursday with economic conditions set for the most prosperous period since before the World War in the opinion of government officials. Stabilization of American business has been effected to an extent unparalleled since 1913 and the big totals of business during war days are being approached at present.

BOY SCOUTS TO FROLIC AT CAVE

Robbers Rendezvous To Be Scene of Evac Screebber Monday Night.

Tuocs Band to Revive Life and Traditions of Early Day Outlaws.

A frolic at Robbers Cave beginning at 8:30 Monday evening, has been arranged for the 300 members of the several Boy Scouts of Lincoln, Dr. J. E. M. Thompson, chairman of the committee on arrangements said Saturday night. The frolic will be in the nature of a festival re-enacting scenes of the days when, it is said, the cave was used as a rendezvous for a notorious robber band. The Lincoln Traction company has agreed to furnish two cars to take the scouts to Fourteenth and High streets, two blocks from the cave, free of charge. The cars will leave Tenth and O streets promptly at 8 o'clock. When the frolic ends at 8 o'clock the cars will be waiting to return the boys to the city.

Outlines Nature of Frolic.
In a statement issued to the scouts and their troop heads last night, Dr. Thompson said that the guides will be furnished to take the scouts through the cave and the traditions of the place will be explained to them while it is interesting features are being visited. They will also be given an idea of the activities and methods of living of members of the Tuocs.

Many surprises are in store for the scouts who are lucky enough to be present at the festivity, Thompson said, in announcing that because of the uncertainty of the weather the scouts should be warmly clad as there may be a reason for them to spend a few minutes outside the cave after the ceremonies begin.

Will Be Snappy Affair.
"Every feature will be snappy," he said, "and it is necessary that we start promptly on the hour set. Be there on time and bring your C S & D cup, sweater, spoon and dime—or at least bring something to drink out of, eat from and eat with, whether it is tin, wood or whatnot."

"You will be astounded to see what the real characteristics of this terrible band of Tuocs are. They have promised to come clean, in all their methods, intrigues, and even to the past word of their organization, and every scout must remember he is a guest and enter into the frolic in real scout fashion. The Tuocs band has many traditions and unusual customs that it will require the cooperation of all to make the Evac Screebber a success."

Scouts Who Are Eligible.
"Tenderfoot scouts, and first class and merit scouts will have an opportunity if they wish, to show their real metal. Scout masters may doubtless have already informed you that the Evac Screebber is a revival of an ancient Tuocs New Year robber holiday, in which, after a prosperous year of glorious plunder, the bands gather at their favorite rendezvous for a frolic to thresh out any difficulties in the band; elect their leaders; punish those who have gone wrong; mourn their deceased; enroll new members and test their worth and stability to bring out any traits or weaknesses of character which might make them undesirable for work such as they would be called upon to perform."

Have High Ideals.
"This famous band of Tuocs has ideals far above the usual band, and in entertaining the scouts wish to come into closer contact with younger spirits in order that they may have an opportunity to study their ways and appreciate the real purpose of their lives."

"Don't forget the hot and heavy, rough and ready, quick service, robbery meal, and the program of the under world which is in store for you Monday night. It is quite essential that every scout get in touch with his scout master before sunday Monday and make his reservation for the frolic, as but 300 can be accommodated at the Evac Screebber, as Chief Peter Johnstone will close the cave promptly at 8:30."

"Chief Johnstone and his detectives will be on guard constantly. Rain or shine, snow or sleet, the Evac Screebber will not be held up, so be there promptly at 8:30, and be ready for a glorious time from then until 8 o'clock."

Messenger Robbed By Man and Woman

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 27. — James Butler, 18, messenger for the Commercial National bank, was held up and robbed of $1,600 here today by a man and woman who kidnapped Butler and took him several blocks in their automobile before throwing him out.

"Just a minute, Jimmy," said the woman as Butler started back on foot toward the bank. "Here's a quarter for car fare."

Butler took the coin and the two sped away.

STATE TEACHERS MEET AT OMAHA

Many Local Instructors to Attend Annual Convention This Week.

Lincoln Educators Will Appear On Programs and Help Make Plans.

The fifty-eighth annual meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers' association will be held in Omaha, opening with a general session at the city auditorium Monday. Secretary E. M. Hosman of Lincoln said Saturday before leaving for the complete final arrangements for the gathering.

Preliminary to the program which has been drafted, the Schoolmasters club, and the Nebraska women's Educational club will hold mid-year business sessions and dinners. The dinner of the Schoolmasters' club will be open to friends of the organization.

The meetings of the school masters and the Women's Educational club are held as a part of the sessions of the state teachers association, for which organization a number of prominent educators, and men and women prominent in the business and professional world have been secured as speakers. The convention has been divided into four general sessions and a large number of divisional and sectional conferences.

Big Attendance Expected.
Secretary Hosman said that reports coming to him every day from the Omaha chamber of commerce and Omaha hotels, indicate that there will be a big attendance at the meetings. This has been borne out, he said, by the heavy demand for special rate certificates. Special one and one-half fare rates have been granted by all railroads on the identification certificate plan. The final return limit is January 7.

A feature of the convention at Omaha will be the session of the musical department representatives of the high schools of the state. Hosman stated, at this meeting the plans for second state music contest in Lincoln in February will be completed.

The first contest was organized a year ago and more than 500 high school musicians participated. He anticipates a still greater number will attend the second meeting than the first. Already a great interest has been manifested in the intended organized society which is intended to promote the cultural side of the educational program, he said. H. O. Ferguson of Lincoln is chairman of the conference.

Through the efforts of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, there will be musical programs, theatre parties, dinners and luncheons, and opportunities for informal gatherings and rest.

The convention will be in charge of President J. A. True of McCook and all sessions will be held in the technical high school building.

M. C. Lefter, superintendent of the Lincoln public schools, and Nebraska director of the National Educational association, is among the several Lincoln people who are scheduled to speak at the convention. Other Lincoln speakers are L. C. Ober, member Nebraska State board of control; John M. Matzen, state superintendent; F. E. Henzlik, teachers' college, University of Nebraska; and O. L. Pound, assistant principal of the high school.

Speakers who will appear before some of the group meetings include Chancellor Samuel Avery, Schoolmaster's club; and Miss Sarah T. Matzen, member-elect of the state legislature, who will be the principal speaker at the banquet of the Woman's Educational club at Hotel Pontenelle, Monday night.

PHI MU ALPHA NATIONAL MEET IS HELD HERE

Delegates To Be Entertained Sunday; Continue Meetings Monday.

Every chapter of Phi Mu Alpha musical fraternity, is represented at the national convention which opened in the Lincoln hotel Saturday. The train, to which a special car bringing twenty-five eastern delegates was attached, arrived in Lincoln seven hours late and the first business meeting could not be held until Saturday evening.

The convention opened with a luncheon at noon presided over by H. O. Ferguson of the Nebraska Union chapter and governor of the central district. Each delegate was introduced and Adrian Newsom and Sidney Silber both spoke briefly. It was found necessary to postpone a recital by Sidney Silber which was to have been given in the afternoon.

An informal dinner was given at 6 o'clock and a business meeting followed. President Peter W. Dykema, head of the teachers college at Columbia university, presided at the business session.

Sororities Entertain.
Members of the local chapter and all visiting fraternity men were entertained at a dance at 10 o'clock Saturday evening by the Nebraska chapters of the two musical sororities, Mu Phi Epsilon and Sigma Alpha Iota, in the hotel ballroom.

The delegates will attend services at St. Paul church in a body Sunday morning and Dr. Walter Aitken will deliver a special sermon. A formal dinner is to be given at the Lincoln hotel this evening.

Meetings will continue all day Monday. Headquarters have been established on the mezzanine floor at the Lincoln hotel. Many of the delegates will leave Tuesday morning for St. Louis to attend the national convention of music teachers which is to be held there this week.

Delegates who registered Saturday afternoon are: Frank W. Stoddard, Alpha Delta, Iowa; Frank H. Benyard, Phi Iota; Sterling S. Williams, Chi, Washington; Lewis J. Frank A. Vanderlip Has Passed Crisis

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Frank A. Vanderlip, international banker, has passed the crisis in his fight against typhoid fever which attacked him four weeks ago.

This announcement was made tonight by attending physicians. The bulletin read in part:

"He is on the way to recovery and he has passed the critical period."

Navy Denies Spring Maneuvers Can Be Taken As War Gesture

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. — Revealing that next spring's naval maneuvers in Hawaiian waters will be merely a part of a four year program evolved five years ago, officials of the navy department tonight offered complete refutation of allegations that the maneuvers actually were designed to constitute a war-like gesture toward Japan.

A statement made by Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of the bureau of operations, at a secret session of a congressional committee, was offered as proof that plans to send the fleet across the Pacific this year had been worked out during the Wilson administration.

Admiral Eberle even disclosed the reasons that prompted selection of Hawaiian waters for the 1925 maneuvers, and the anchorage in that vicinity and to co-operate with the army establishment there, which has not had an opportunity to engage in war tactics with the fleet since 1920. This year's problem will require the army and the local naval establishment to defend Hawaii against a naval attack.

Admiral Eberle also explained proposed voyage of a portion of the fleet to Australia at the conclusion of the maneuvers. Designed as a "courtesy" cruise in the course of which all the major Australian ports will be visited, it also will permit testing out of fueling arrangements for a long cruise. The ships of the fleet will be fuelled on board from American colliers attached to them. Naval officers will long remember the fiasco of 1908 when President Roosevelt sent the fleet around the world and the ships were forced to rely upon British colliers to complete the cruise.

BLACK'S CARTOON WON FIRST OVER 50 CONTESTANTS

Lincoln Star Artist Had Stiff Competition For National Prize.

Announcement of Award Shows Leading Cartoonists Submitted Work.

The "Get Out the Vote" cartoon drawn by "Oz Black," Lincoln Star artist, which won first place in the national contest conducted by the League of Women Voters, was chosen the best of among nearly fifty cartoons, according to announcement received Saturday from the National League of Women Voters at Washington. The list of those given honorable mention shows that Black's work excelled that of some of the leading cartoonists of the United States.

The announcement of the award sent out by the League of Women Voters follows:

"Oz Black, cartoonist of the Lincoln (Neb.) Sunday Star was today awarded the $50 prize offered by the National League of Women Voters in the nation-wide contest for the published cartoon 'best calculated to arouse general interest in voting and increased attendance at the polls.' Thirteen other contestants were given honorable mention in the contest arranged as a part of the league's get-out-the-vote campaign."

"Mr. Black's cartoon was published in the Lincoln Star on Sunday, September 21. Entitled 'The Reason Why We Are Not Making Better Progress,' it depicts 'The United States driving a team on the road 'To Good Government.' One horse, representing 'The Half of Us Which Votes' is pulling all the load while the second horse 'The Half Which Does Not Vote' is wooden and immobile, and is holding back progress."

A second cartoon by Black was also given honorable mention as were two submitted by John M. Baer, of North Dakota, former representative in congress and cartoonist for Labor and Capper's Weekly, and two by Morris appearing in the Passaic, New Jersey Daily News, and the New Haven Conn. Journal-Courier.

"The award was made by a committee comprising Bruce Bliven, Miss Elizabeth Fraser, William Hard, David Lawrence, Mrs. Anna Steese Richards, William Allen White, and Miss Katherine Ludington, representing the League of Women Voters. Black's work was chosen from among nearly fifty cartoons."

Given Honorable Mention.
"Honorable mention was given: 'J. N. Darling's 'It's a Wonder There Aren't More Serious Accidents' in Des Moines, Ia., Register, October 12."

"John M. Baer's 'The Return of Paul Revere,' in Labor, October 11. 'Gregg's 'If Guitierrez Would Only Wake Up,' in the Atlantic Constitution, September 7."

"Morris' 'Are You a Vote Slacker,' in New Haven, Conn., Constitution, September 7."

"Brewster's 'Our Forefathers Fought and Died That We Might Have the Ballot,' in the Atlantic, Ga., Journal, October 30."

"John M. Baer's 'Where You'll Find Your Government,' in Capper's Weekly, October 12."

"Oz Black's 'You've Got to At Least Express Your Preference,' in Lincoln Sunday Star, October 12."

"Morris' 'You Are to Blame for the election of the Incompetent and Dishonest,' in the Passaic, N. Y., Daily News, November 3."

"Justus' 'Suggestion for Getting Out the Vote' in Sioux City Tribune, November 1."

Opens Purse and $300 Blown Away

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. — A mischievous wind cost William Wilson of San Francisco just $300. William was taking out his wallet to buy a paper when the breeze caught three $100 bills and carried them down the street.

William leaped to catch his flying money, but the gust carried it around a corner, and although he was aided by a crowd of searchers, he was unable to recover the money.

DENIAL ISSUED.
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—A denial that war material had been produced in Krupp factories in Germany since the Versailles treaty was confirmed by an announcement of a public offering of $10,000,000 worth of serial bonds by Fred Krupp. A cable from the Krupp works was appended to the announcement of the loan.

live volume of agricultural exports for a number of years. Agricultural exports from the United States show a marked decrease for 1924. The first half of this year records a volume a little below the level of exports just preceding the World war.

In comparison, the decline stands similar to the period from 1897 to 1913, when exportation of agricultural products dropped from an active post-war period (Spanish-American) to an index level of ninety-two for 1911, which was the lowest for twenty years, or for thirty, if cotton is excluded. These statistics are formed on the basis of an average volume of exports during the period of 1909 to 1914, taking quantity weighed, according to relative values per unit of each crop. These figures show an upward spurt to an index of 108 during the prosperous years just before 1914. The index now stands at 104.

Exports of wheat and rye will show a big increase by the close of the year, the foundation believes, as the United States crop is estimated heavy, while the European crop has fallen down. This is contrary to the record of the past four years, when the index number for exports of grains and grain products has dropped rapidly. Cattle and meat products exports, which for three years have shown an upward tendency, will be lighter this year, due in part to increased livestock production generally in Europe, the foundation concludes.

This is Medicine Chest Week

"Be As Careful As Your Doctor"

Every mother knows the tragedy of the empty medicine cabinet—the precious minutes when the right application may save the life of her child. It is then that the sharp realization comes of what a fully equipped medicine chest means to health and well being of every member of the family.

Medicine Chest Week has been designated as a week of preparation and instruction in First Aid materials and application. Every Registered Druggist whose name appears in this advertisement will gladly explain the use and application of all necessary Medicine Chest needs. His experience and knowledge will help you to meet an emergency intelligently and with the proper materials.

Check up your Medicine Chest needs NOW. Don't wait until an emergency brings you face to face with a crisis — and an empty medicine chest. Prepare for the emergencies of winter, sudden weather changes, and accidents by ordering First Aid Materials from your druggist NOW.

The following materials cover the needs of the First Aid Cabinet or Medicine Chest. Your druggist will gladly inform you regarding the use and application of each. This list should be in every home and factory for emergency use.

PROFIT FOR CORN CONTEST WINNER

Man Who Got Prize In Eastern Nebraska Made $30 an Acre.

Discussion of Methods To Be Held at Growers Meeting Here.

The winner in the eastern section of the corn yield contest conducted in Nebraska this year by the Crop Growers association made a profit of $29.84 per acre, according to the records of the contest. The lowest profit made by a contestant was $5.53 per acre. Corn was figured at $1 per bushel. Each man who competed raised at least 10 acres.

The wide difference in these returns was not due entirely to difference in yield but also to cost of production per acre, the officials say. Methods used in the raising of these 10 acre entries will be discussed by the farmers themselves at the crop growers' meeting at Organized Agriculture here in January. Contesting farmers from other parts of the state will also be present to tell of their experiences.

Winner Has System.

The winner in the eastern section has been handling his farm for a number of years under a definite crop rotation system. A survey of the highest producers in each section shows they all use alfalfa or clover in rotations, pick seed corn carefully, and get a good stand in their fields.

The figures given by the officials of the Crop Growers Association are not announced to indicate any average returns but to show the possibilities and to point out the effect of handling fields in ways that increase yields and thereby the acre profits. More complete figures will be given at the Organized Agriculture meetings. Winners in each section of the state will be announced at that time and the prizes offered last spring will be presented to them with due ceremony.

This is the first year that the corn yield contest has been held in the state. Its purpose is to encourage profitable corn production and to establish facts from practical farms regarding economical methods of production over a period of years.

A Missing Bank Teller Captured And Confesses

SALINAS, Cal., Dec. 27.—Dale Rowan, chief teller of the Bank of Italy, who disappeared May 24 with $47,200 of the bank's funds, today made a complete statement to Sheriff W. D. Oyer and accounted for approximately $30,000 of the missing bank funds.

Rowan and the auburn-haired woman with whom he disappeared were arrested last night by Sheriff Oyer and a posse on the ranch of Joseph Martinez, father of the young woman. Mr. and Mrs. Martinez were away, but apparently the desire to spend Christmas "at home" was so strong that the fugitives left the little ranch near Salt Lake on which they had been living and returned to California and their capture followed.

Rowan told Sheriff Oyer that when he walked out of the bank last May with the funds, he left immediately by automobile and went to Salt Lake City. There he decided to purchase a ranch and since then the couple have been living on the ranch. In the meanwhile Rowan's wife has been supporting herself teaching school in Los Angeles.

The captured teller told officers he had not dissipated the funds recklessly but made investments in Utah. He said he owned stock in the Utah Light & Power Co. and had money in at least three safety deposit boxes as well as two commercial accounts in Salt Lake banks.

HUMANE SOCIETY AND CITY AGREE

Society Will Take Care of Lincoln's Dog Catching Another Year.

Contract Whereby Society Gets Fees Is Up For Approval Again.

An agreement between the city and the local humane society was filed Saturday with the city clerk by Mayor Zehrung. The agreement covers the activities of the society in Lincoln during 1925 as well as relations between the city and the organization during the same period.

The humane society obligates itself to maintain a shelter for stray animals or impounded dogs, and to care for the humane activities of the city next year. The society is to pay all expenses incident to the operation of the shelter and for catching dogs upon which licenses have not been obtained. The city is also to be held free of liability for any action of the society.

In return for its work the society is given the entire receipts from the sale of dog tags, and $65 monthly from the city.

The agreement will be submitted Monday to the council for approval.

Dog Taxes Due.

Superintendent C. E. McClain states that the tax on every dog in the city more than three months old, is due January 1. The fee is $1 for males and $2 for females. A penalty of 50 cents is charged when the tax is not paid by February.

McClain said that his office would also collect taxes for dogs owned in University Place. He hopes that negotiations with the Havelock officials will result in the same kind of an arrangement.

The humane society this winter, according to McClain, has been more active than at any time since it was founded. The extreme cold has kept the animal ambulance busy picking up injured cats and dogs, in addition to the many horses and cattle which have been cared for.

U. S. Scientists Attempting To Weigh Earth, Sun and Moon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Ambitious scientists on Uncle Sam's pay roll have started out to weigh the earth, sun, moon, planets and stars with two little gold balls, a couple of cylinders and a gallery of mirrors.

Down in a cave thirty-five feet beneath the lowest cellar of the bureau of standards building here, they are putting mother earth on the scales. It is done by measuring the attraction of the cylinders on the gold balls as they swing in a circle.

The attraction is almost immeasurably small, but applied to the earth in relation to the sun and moon is explains the summer and winter, the tides, and the other natural phenomena of this changing world.

The figure previously determined as representing this universal attraction of all bodies of matter for one another, called the "gravitational constant" and fixed at .000,000,066,98, is only 99.98 per cent correct, and Dr. Paul Rhyll, with special precautions for accuracy, hopes to obtain a figure which will be 99.998 per cent correct, or a 90 per cent reduction in the present error.

With this figure and other data, including the distance to the center of the earth, the sun, the moon and stars, the business of determining their mass, for weight, can be accomplished. The astronomers have worked out a formula whereby the mass can be accurately computed, the other factors in the equation being correct.

The present estimate for the earth's weight is six sextillion—6,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons. Astronomers admit, however, that there is a basic error of one-fifth of 1 per cent in this figure, or about one and one-fifth quintillion tons in the total.

This discrepancy has bothered them in their efforts.

If the present weighing experiment works, this error will be reduced to one five-hundredth of 1 per cent, bringing the earth's weight estimate within 120 quadrillion tons of being right, sufficiently close for all practical purposes.

The sun's weight is now computed as 322,000 times that of the earth, an appallingly long string of figures. The same errors enter into calculations of its weight and if eliminated for the earth they will be eliminated for the sun.

TO TELL HOW TO BEAUTIFY FARMS

Iowa Expert Will Speak to Nebraska Farm Women and Horticulturists.

Will Explain Use of Grass, Shrubs and Trees About Country Home.

The developing and beautifying of farmsteads with grass, shrubs and trees will be discussed by Prof. C. M. Diggs of the Iowa state college before a joint session of the Home Economics association and the State Horticultural society on Tuesday afternoon of organized agriculture week.

Mr. Diggs is now the extension man of the Iowa State college who has charge of all the assistance that the neighboring institution is giving to Iowa farmers in the planning of their home surroundings.

In his present position, he also looks after about 20,000 acres of Iowa state parks. He spent 12 years in public and private life in Washington, D. C. in park planning work and one year in similar work in the Yellowstone park. He has also served on the Minneapolis city park board.

"Hundred and Healthy" Motto Of T. J. Thorpe, Lincoln Man, Who Expects to Prove Theory

"A hundred and healthy" is the slogan which T. J. Thorpe believes every man and woman should adopt. Mr. Thorpe believes so firmly that he is going to live up to it. He is going to write a book about it. As a matter of fact the book is already begun, but not completed. How to live a long time and be happy while you are doing it is the real idea of the book, but it will contain a number of illustrations showing what a man who is nearly eight years of age can do in the way of somersaults, and a host of other acrobatic stunts.

Mr. Thorpe will be seventy-seven years of age next August, and he says that there is no sense of getting old or sick or feeble or anything along that line. His idea is to live to be a hundred anyway, and as much longer as possible. It's all so simple—this living to be a hundred, according to Mr. Thorpe. All you have to do is guard your appetite and exercise.

"The trouble with the majority of folks," Mr. Thorpe said, "is that they are in bondage to their appetites. They eat anything they care to at any time. They eat too many fancy things and not enough of the food that really does them some good."

"I refuse to eat eggs and I eat no meat nor butter. I won't eat potatoes, either, they are bad for the eyes."

Mr. Thorpe had three "don'ts" which he stresses in his book on "How to Live to be a Hundred." These things are:

Three Health Rules.
I—Don't overeat.
II—Don't worry.
III—Don't get the wrong kind of sleep.

Our bodies are just like heating stoves, so Mr. Thorpe says, and if we feed them too much fuel, they will be warped all out of shape. "Just stand on the corner some day and watch folks go by," said Mr. Thorpe, "and you will see what I mean. Half of them are warped out of shape. It's just as bad to be too thin as too fat, and there is no excuse for either if one lives right. Eat plenty of vegetables and fresh fruit. Stay away from the sweets, and the heavy foods such as meat and foods with a great deal of starch."

"Once, just as an experiment, I went a whole week without a bite of food, and I never better in my life. The first day or so was pretty bad, but after that I got along fine. Every time I felt hungry I would take a drink of water and a few long, deep breaths and I was all right."

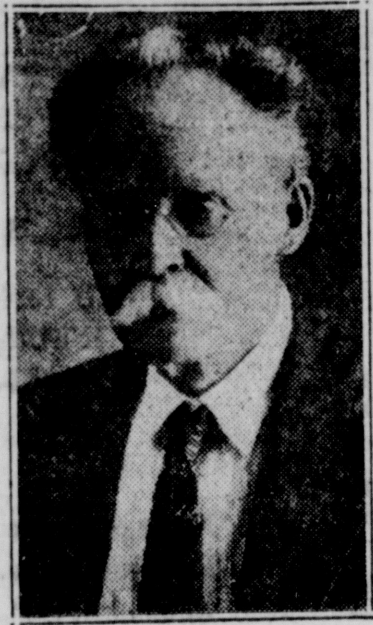

"And I never worry. Every time you worry it leaves a mark on your face. All of those wrinkles don't accumulate at once, but they show later on, and then it is too late to do much of anything with them."

"Worry doesn't help things any, it generally makes them worse, so why do it?"

Sleep is a great factor in staying young, Mr. Thorpe says. It isn't so much the amount you get as the quality of the sleep while you are getting it.

"If you sleep is too sound it is not healthy," Mr. Thorpe said. "I mean if you never move during the night but find yourself in the same position in the morning as you were when you dropped off to sleep. Watch an animal. They will turn several times in just a short nap, and about the healthiest thing they do is stretch."

Animals Know Their Stuff.
"In fact if we watch the animals we would learn much. They fol-

T. J. Thorpe, who, after he has passed his eightieth birthday, intends to publish a book on how to stay young until you are a hundred and then some. It's all very simple if you know how, according to Mr. Thorpe, and he intends to tell the rest of the world how he can be eighty, look fifty and feel thirty.

low the natural laws and they are much better off than we are as far as health is concerned. An animal has sense. When a dog or cat does not feel well it will not eat no matter how tempting the food. That is the way we should do. When we have a cold or feel at all ill we should never eat until we feel better. We would be surprised how much better off we would be. "My theories are founded on the Bible. I know that the majority of people will laugh at that idea, but nevertheless it is true. Look at Daniel, how strong mentally and physically he was. He lived on a vegetable that resembles our peas, and nothing else. He was better off for his plain diet."

"Another thing that hampers the health of the people today is the lack of exercise. I am nearly seventy-seven years old, but I walk and ride my bicycle just as regularly as can be. One should walk at least five miles each day in order to stay young, and take setting up exercises as well. There is nothing like exercise for health."

Mr. Thorpe also has his own ideas about his diet. He has some health dishes he has arranged himself and he eats them devotedly. Besides his regular diet he eats 150 pounds of prunes each year.

"I tell people how I keep my health and how I regained it, for I was not always strong and healthy," said Mr. Thorpe, "but people don't pay any attention, they just have to find out for themselves. I had two brothers who died with tuberculosis and I had myself a good many years ago, but by right living I overcame it."

"People do not realize their condition, some times, until it is too late. They have allowed themselves to do everything but the things they should do until there is no hope nor help for them. One gets to work in time there will not be the need for the cutting and butchering. That goes on in our hospitals. There is no reason why all of us should not live to be a hundred and be healthy while we're about it."

McBride Says Nebraska Needs A Few Battlefields and a Flock of Song Writers

BY GREGG M'BRIDE.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 24.—Anyone who travels through the southern states in the winter time cannot help but become convinced that what Nebraska needs to make itself popular in tourist circles is not so much a particularly large wheat crop or large tourist camps but rather a couple of battlefields within its borders and a crop of good song writers.

Scenery in the south is little better than that of the Black Hills or northwest Nebraska or the Missouri River Ozarks in the southeastern part of the Cornhusker commonwealth. But the southern cities each have a battle field of their own and a bunch of enthusiastic psalmists who each year yearn "to be back at mammy's knee."

As evidence of the first we submit the government parks around Vicksburg, Miss., the War of 1812 history of New Orleans, Chickamauga battlefields of Chattanooga, etc. Proof of the latter may be found in the annual regiments of "southern" song writers, most of whom probably never have seen Dixie, yet turn out such heart-touching ballads as "Are you from Dixie," "Sleepy Hills of Tennessee," "I'm Goin' South" and the general discussion about the "Mississippi Miss."

Perhaps it would do Nebraska advertisers some good to groom up some of the Indian battlefields, perchance re-name Scotts Bluff to "Death Point," construct a legend about how the Redskins formerly tossed their captives off this rock and then tell it to the whole world. The next step in the program might be to educate a bevy of song writers, then send them away and not let them come home until they make good.

But be that as it may, the South is interesting and Chattanooga and its surrounding territory one of the most interesting of the group.

As a background it might be interesting to recite in brief the military history of the place. This city was first occupied by the Confederate troops in the spring of 1862, under Generals Floyd, Maxey and Ledbetter. Union troops under General Mitchell shelled it June 7 and 8, and the army occupied it in August, preparing for the Kentucky campaign, again in the fall on its return from Kentucky, and in the summer of 1863, when getting before Rosecrans from middle Tennessee.

Wilder shelled the city from Springer's Ridge in August 21. Bragg evacuated the city September 7, and the small union force took possession.

Rosecrans occupied it in force the second morning after the battle of Chickamauga and thereafter it remained in Union control. Points of interest around Chattanooga include Lookout Mountain, Signal Mountain, Chickamauga Battlefields and Missionary Ridge. Chickamauga and Missionary Ridge are historic battlefields which have been reserved by the federal government. An elaborate and teresting of the group. It is several hundred feet higher than Signal mountain and is reached by an incline said to be the steepest incline railroad in the world. The incline is similar to the one which travels up Mount Manitou at Colorado Springs but makes a much steeper ascent.

The Mountain Lookout incline route is 4,750 feet long directly up the side of the mountain and at one stretch a seventy percent grade. The auto route is nine miles in length over nine times the journey by rail. It takes eight and one-half minutes to make the trip from the station to the summit and the cars are constructed on the order of bleachers, each seat being a step higher than the one in front.

There is a town of over 2,500 people located at the top of Lookout Mountain. It is incorporated, has its own water, light and traction system. Most of the people, however, work down in Chattanooga and each morning "drop into the city, via the incline and go back and sleep on the mountain at night."

The Mountain city however does not boast of its own cemetery and the hill citizens must come down on the common level with other Chattanooga to take "their last sleep."

Chattanooga, with a traffic problem much similar to Lincoln, has just installed the block signal system. Traffic moves on the main avenue every 45 seconds with the side streets feeding in the remaining fifteen seconds of the minute.

Pedestrians also must wait for the traffic signal and the first week it required two policemen on each corner accustoming the citizens to the new system.

HUNDRED ENTRIES IN ANNUAL SHOW

Pet and Hobby Exhibition at Lincoln Y. M. C. A. New Year's Day.

One hundred boys have already made entries for the annual pet and hobby show to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on New Year's day and at least twenty-five more are expected before the lists are complete. There are more entries of woodwork than in any other division although the poultry and drawing division will be large.

Prizes have all been secured and include such things as knives, flashlights, tools, pictures, books, stamp cartridges, fountain pens, drawing boards, footballs and baseballs.

One boy has entered an exhibit of over thirty kinds of glass which he has collected in Lincoln. The pieces are mounted on panels and labeled. Another lad has entered a "Turkin," which is said to be a cross between a turkey and a chicken.

A Rome Newspaper
Implicates Mussolini
In Matteotti Case

ROME, Dec. 27.—That Premier Mussolini himself was implicated in the "disappearance" of the socialist deputy, Matteotti—the celebrated political crime which stirred all Italy last June—is the sensational charge made this afternoon by the newspaper Mundo.

The charge is made in a statement purporting to have been authorized by Count Theophile Rossi, formerly minister of industry in the Mussolini cabinet, and now imprisoned for his supposed part in the famous Matteotti crime.

NO REMEDY FOR 'EUROPEAN FLU'

Say Embargo Dealt Serious Blow to Poultry Industry.

Federal Department to Start Work Renovating Shipping Centers.

The following article concerning the European "flu" malady said to be prevalent among chickens in the middle-west appearing in the World Herald under a Washington dateline.

Treatment of chickens infected with the "European flu" a malady which has spread rapidly in Nebraska, Iowa and other western states, is futile, scientists of the United States department of agriculture declared today.

There is no known remedy for the disease and federal experts strongly urge the immediate destruction of all animals manifesting symptoms of "flu."

The fact that eastern states have declared embargoes against the shipment of chickens into their borders is said by government officials to be a serious blow to the poultry industry, and will result in heavy financial losses to farmers and poultry specialists.

How long the embargoes will be maintained is a question federal officials say they are not prepared to answer. Work will be started immediately by the federal department which has just received an appropriation of 100 thousand dollars from congress, to compel renovation and disinfection of all shipping centers, which is believed to be the only effective method of dealing with the disease.

High Mortality Rate.
Additional investigations made by scientists of the department disclose that the disease is extremely infectious, and has a high mortality rate. Conspicuous symptoms are said to be depression and loss of appetite followed by prostration. The comb and wattles usually are purple and sometimes swollen. Sticky exudate may paste the eyelids together, clog the nasal passage and even obstruct the windpipe, causing labored breathing. A greenish yellow diarrhea may be present the government scientists say.

It is pointed out by these officials that farmers and others are mistaking other diseases for "flu," and a fear is expressed that many chickens may be slaughtered as a result of wrong diagnosis. Many chickens sent to Washington from western states for examination were found to be suffering from some other disease instead of "flu."

While the existence of the disease and its destructiveness have been completely established by the department, complaints are reaching it that dealers in various sections of the country are taking advantage of the situation to exploit consumers because of the heavy holiday trade.

Representative Blanton of Texas in the house of representatives charged that cold storage concerns have exaggerated the gravity of the epidemic and are agitating embargoes and rigid inspections in an effort to secure a monopoly of the chicken business.

Frozen poultry does not come under the inspection regulations now in force, hence cold storage men are in a way to dispose of large quantities of poultry, according to Representative Blanton. They are also increasing the price everywhere, he says, notwithstanding the quantity of chickens in storage is greater than for a number of years.

Federal officials reiterate their previously expressed opinion that the "flu" is mainly a "shipping disease," and is not likely to seriously affect farmers' flocks that are given proper attention.

To Answer Heart Balm Suit With Slander Charge

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—Miss Winifred Lanning, 22, today filed a ten thousand dollar breach of promise suit against Clyde W. Baird of Council Bluffs, young bookkeeper employed in the Metropolitan Utilities district office in the city hall.

Miss Lanning said today the suit marked a broken romance which began when she and Baird were working together in the utilities office in November, 1921.

According to her petition, Miss Lanning says Baird broke their engagement November 17.

Baird today denied ever having been engaged to the girl.

"I had intended to marry her, but I never told her so," he declared. "Finally, I told her I didn't want to go with her longer."

Baird asserted he would answer the girl's petition by filing a slander suit against her. "She's been talking about me to other people," Baird asserted.

Baird said he had discovered that Miss Lanning several weeks ago went to Council Bluffs and obtained a license for them to wed.

"When I first learned of it, she denied getting the license, but I went to the court house in the Bluffs and saw her signature on the application," said Baird.

"Clyde never told me why he broke our engagement," the girl said. "Some one told me that he said it was because I talked about him. If he says that he's crazy."

Many Iowans Being Treated For Rabies

—TOWO CITY, Ia., Dec. 27.—Dr. Don Griswold, head of the bacteriological department, University of Iowa, started here this afternoon that dozens of residents of Iowa were being treated for rabies.

The plague is said to have had its origin in Orbia, Ia., a mining town in the southern part of the state.

The plague has resulted in the death of two persons, twenty head of cattle, twelve horses, ten head of hogs, forty-two dogs and several cats. Dr. Griswold declared in each case the diagnosis showed that death was due to rabies.

Miss Chapin Is First Woman On Staff Of Forum

The originality and pep of a mid-western girl plus her confidence in the culture, refinement and learning of her own middle west as compared to that of the east won for this middle western girl—Miss Eunice Chapin—a coveted position in literary circles in New York.

Miss Chapin is now associate editor of the Forum, "a magazine of discussion," founded in 1886 by Isaac L. Rice. She is in Lincoln at the present time enjoying a holiday visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Chapin, but will leave shortly after the first of the year to return to her magazine work.

It all came about in such a strange way and was so unexpected that Miss Chapin needs stop now and then to think and think to be very sure it is not all a dream. For sometime she had wished to try her luck at just such work but anyone who has ever cherished such a desire realizes that it is not the simplest thing in the world to break into the inner circle—in truth the very opposite.

Miss Chapin's good fortune came from Bryn Mawr, of which college she is a graduate. For it was to Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Smith and Vassar that the present editor, Henry Goodard Leach, appealed for assistance in selecting the suitable woman for the position. It was a momentous question for never before in the nearly forty years existence of this magazine had a woman been named on the staff. Following the receipt of the letter which gave Miss Chapin the opening to make application for the associate editorship—the editor requesting not just a cut and dried application but rather something which would show the writer's style—she studied the last issue of the Forum. An article decrying the lack of culture in the middle west enraged the reader, who came back with an article written to the editor in which she named the many illustrious persons who had come from this particular bit of the middle west in the last twenty-five years and remarked that something more than "suspenders and Nottingham chimes" came out of the middle west. This was followed up with another letter supposedly from an Iowa woman—the writer of the first article was an Iowa man—who notified the editor of the cancelling of many subscriptions because of this self same article and the reasons why she objected to it.

A telegram to meet Mr. Leach in Cleveland for an interview prepared to continue east if the interview proved satisfactory was the next step. And so Miss Chapin landed the position out of a group of twenty-eight women—the others eastern women.

Miss Chapin is wholly responsible for two departments, "Our Rostrom" in which are published letters from readers relating to topics discussed by Forum readers and the "Symposium" which contains summaries and quoted opinions of various students on subjects of the day. The Turkish Treaty is the subject under discussion in the January number. This is only a small part of Miss Chapin's work for her days are busy ones but not the least is the mingling and meeting with writers, artists, poets and worth while persons of the literary world.

ALLIES TOGETHER ON GERMAN NOTE

All Agree In Sending Accusation That Late Enemy Has Failed to Disarm.

Ambassadors Meeting at Paris Agree Not to Vacate Cologne by January 10.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—A joint allied note accusing Germany of bad faith in not complying with disarmament provisions of the Versailles treaty was decided upon today by the council of ambassadors.

The note, which will notify the late enemy state of the allies' intention not to evacuate Cologne by January 10, will also explain the reasons. These are found in Marshal Foch's report that Germany has not properly disarmed. The note is being drafted and probably will be signed Wednesday.

In the meantime, vigorous protest from the German government is anticipated. Herr von Hoesch, German ambassador, tonight made representations on the subject to the foreign office.

The allied ambassadors were in complete accord at their meeting today, agreeing to act as a unit regarding the Cologne area, American Ambassador Herrick sat in as unofficial observer.

Find More Arms.
PARIS, Dec. 27.—Thirty thousand-cannon barrels of the model of 1893 and 15,000 heavy machine gun barrels under construction were discovered in a German factory near Berlin by the allied commission of control, the French foreign office announced tonight.

The announcement was made as an example of Germany's failure to disarm as required by the Versailles treaty.

This is the second important discovery of hidden armament reported by the allied control commission which has been in Germany investigating.

NOTED RUSSIAN ARTIST IS DEAD

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—Leon Nicolavich Bakst, noted Russian painter, died today in Paris at the age of 59, dispatches state.

He cancelled a lecture engagement before the Omaha Society of Fine Arts at the Hotel Fontenelle, January 19, 1924, because of illness.

He painted the portrait of Willa Cather which hangs in the public library. During the time this portrait was being painted Miss Cather availed herself of the opportunity to study his personality and art concerning which she wrote to Mrs. Guy Kiddle that he does his very best work in his perfectly relaxed hours when he is simply playing with his material as he played with his magic lantern when he was a boy. In his portfolios he has many color sketches made in the country districts of Russia, sketches of boys and girls in the homely and home-made costumes they had invented for themselves for a holiday.

The Evening Newspaper

Q

In no department of human endeavor has SPEED been applied more advantageously than to the publication of the daily newspaper.

Through the use of new printing machinery and a complete news service, aided and speeded up by modern methods of communication, the evening newspapers are able to print the news the day it happens, while the morning paper prints today's news TOMORROW.

Nearly all of the world's activities which make news, occur during the day. All of the business and financial news of the world is available for the evening paper. In reporting the news of the Old World, the evening newspaper has the added advantage of approximately seven hours difference in time. When the evening papers are coming off the press, Europe has, generally speaking, retired for the night. When the evening paper has finished with the news there is little left for the morning publications except a re-hash of what has already appeared in print.

It is these outstanding NEWS advantages that make evening papers the leaders in the newspaper field.

The Star is an efficient evening newspaper, possessing all the elements which make evening papers paramount.

The Star has the two greatest telegraph news services in the world—The Associated Press and the International News Service.

The Star has the best comics and features available anywhere.

The Star is a COMPLETE newspaper. All the news of the previous twenty-four hours is in each edition. The news is not divided between a morning and an evening edition, but is ALL IN ONE PAPER.

The Star, carrying today's news today is delivered in the evening when every member of the family can enjoy it, making it the ideal publication for both the reader and the advertiser.

lishers, which alleges a combination in the placing of a national advertising in newspapers. Announcement of the complaint was made here tonight.

The organizations named in the action are the American Association of Advertising Agencies, the American Press association and the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association.

The complaint charges the organizations named with employing various methods to compel advertisers to either employ agencies or to pay for direct advertising at "gross" rates instead of the lower
"net" rates that prevail when advertising is placed through the agency.

The result of this alleged combination and conspiracy, the complaint sets forth, is to "hamper and obstruct" national advertising throughout the United States; to restrict the dissemination and distribution of such advertising; to restrict the publication of national advertising to newspapers throughout the United States selected and approved by respondents; to compel newspaper publishers throughout the United States to charge for national advertising at "gross" rates and to prevent them from according "net" rates to direct advertisers; and to compel national advertisers to employ respondent or other agencies in the placing of national advertising in newspapers or to pay gross rates for direct advertising.

KIWANIS CAMP
REUNION HELD

250 Girls Attend Gathering Saturday Evening at High School.

Pictures and Skits Presented; Dr. Welch Tells Of Plans for Future.

About 250 girls attended the Camp Kiwans reunion and rally in the high school auditorium Saturday evening. Pictures of the camp were shown and Dr. J. Stanley Welch, president of the Kiwanis club, told of plans for the further development of the camp.

The program opened with a group of camp songs, followed by four vaudeville skits. The first act was a "Flee-hop Waltz" presented by six girls dressed in overalls and white skirts. The second scene depicted the arrival of a group of girls to the camp during the winter months.

The "Kute Kiwanis Kids" presented the third number, and the last act portrayed the camp as it may possibly be fifty years from now.

Improvements Contemplated.
Slides showing various scenes and activities such as boating, swimming, nature study, and camped life were then shown and explained by Dr.
Welch. Numerous improvements on the twenty-eight acres now provided for the camp are contemplated by the club, according to the speaker, and an additional unit under the same supervision may be added in the near future.

Horseback riding and other new activities may be started and arrangements to accommodate groups of older girls are also being considered, Dr. Welch continued. He said that the club hopes to make the camp an attractive and suitable place for business girls to enjoy week end outings. Money for further development is not available now but it can probably be raised later on, he concluded.

The reunion was sponsored by the honorary girls and councillors. Dancing in the gymnasium followed the program.

Calls Fire Department.—When R.
M. Phillips' car caught on fire Saturday evening, he called the fire department, but got the fire out before the department reached his home, 630 West B street. Little damage was reported.

left tied and standing at Tenth and N streets all day, was taken to the humane society shelter late Saturday night, according to police. The horse had two blankets on, but was very cold, the officer reported.

May Have Traffic School.—The present Police court room may, in addition to being used as an assembly room by the police force, be also used as a school room for violators of traffic ordinances, said present police chief, according to Peter Johnston, chief of police.

Adjutant Visits Lincoln.—O. D.
Bolster, adjutant of the soldiers' home at Grand Island, and a former resident of Lincoln was in Lincoln Saturday on business.
Before being appointed to the soldiers' home position, Bolster was for a number of years employed at the state hospital.

Have Stove Going.—A large stove is necessary in winter at the police station to heat the rooms on the lower floor, in addition to the one started only with the advent of the recent cold wave. When the building was repaired last year, painters used seven pounds of putty knocking up the holes in the north wall, they said.

Red Cross Meeting.—Dr. Benjamin F. Bailey, chairman of the Lincoln and Lancaster county chapter of the American Red Cross, announced Saturday that there would be a meeting of the chapter in the Red Cross rooms, room 451 Fraternity building, beginning at 1:30 p. m., Monday, December 29. The meeting will be open to all members.

About People

The Cat Fanciers' club of Lincoln held its Christmas party Friday evening at the home of Mrs.
C. L. Hollenbeck. Several musical numbers were given, and a dance
by a group of high school girls.
Mrs. R. C. Woodford, a cat authority, gave a talk on "What Pets Have Done For Me," and an informal discussion concerning the cat exhibit and judging show completed the party. The club is considering whether Lincoln should have its show in affiliation with the Omaha club or independently.
The hostess served refreshments at the close of the evening and decorations of holly berries on a green foundation carried over the Christmas scheme. Poinsettias were also used. Ice cream in the shape of Christmas bells, and red and green candies followed the Christmas motif.

Guy L. Kidd, who is connected with the Noe Equi Textile mills, has gone to Reading, Pa., where he will attend the convention of the National Textile Association. He held there for division managers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Thomas, 1445 North Twenty-fifth street, entertained at Christmas dinner, their guests being relatives who live in this city. Covers were laid for twelve and dainty favors of small trees set in chocolates were used for combination with the seasonal decorations. The evening was spent in playing progressive some-ers, and honors were won by C. H.
Ogle and Mrs. Thomas.

Harry A. Wispe, head of the shoe department of the Grand Leader department store, will leave at 4:50
p. m. Sunday for a business and buying trip to Boston, St. Louis and Chicago.

Farragut Women's Relief corps
No. 10 met December 27 in Fraternity hall. President Lillian Harm presided. Regular business was taken up. A New Year's day reception will be held at the Lindell hotel for all "A. R. and R. and R." corps members from 2 to 4 o'clock Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Christensen of Omaha came to Lincoln to spend Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Haagenen. Miss Gladys Haagenen returned with them for the New Year holiday.

A joint class adoption will be held by the Modern Woodmen camps of Lancaster county on the evening of January 8, in K. C. hall, Lincoln, at which time a large class of new members will be initiated into the society. The principal part of the program will be the address of Head Consul A. R. Talbot who has promised to be present for the occasion. The initiatory work will be put on by the Foresters' Teams of Lincoln camps and an enjoyable time is assured. Not only members of the twenty-six camps in Lancaster county are invited to attend this meeting, but a cordial invitation is extended to all members of the society whether holding membership in this county or not. This meeting has been designated as the Lancaster M. W. A. homecoming meeting and will hold its final meeting at 603 Terminal building, 7:30 p. m., January 3, and the roster committees from the various camps in the county are expected to be present to assist in completing the final arrangements.

The legal base of Czecho-Slovakian broadcasting was created by the act of December 20, 1923, concerning the manufacture, sale and import of radio-electrical apparatus and accessories. Under this act about seventeen manufacturing licenses have been granted.

The government ordinance of April 17, 1924, constituted the conditions on which license for owning a receiving station can be accrued. However, during six months following this ordinance only 500 licenses have been given, owing to the high prices of radio apparatus and accessories, to the high subscription price of the broadcasting company's "Radio Journal," and to the very slow system of granting licenses by the ministry of posts and telegraphs.

ASSERTS RESPECT FOR LAW NEEDED

Rev. Johnston Talks to Lancaster County Bar Association.

Stresses Responsibility Of Legal and Clerical Professions.

"The big problem of civilization today is the harmonization of personal liberty with other human attributes," declared Rev. Paul C.
Johnston, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, in an address before the Lancaster County Bar association at the Grand hotel Saturday evening, following the monthly banquet.

Rev. Johnston stressed the responsibility of the legal profession and clergy in engendering a spirit of reverence for traditions, law and moral precepts in the younger generation for the reason that their enforcement has been found necessary for the permanency of civilization.

Example of Reverence.
He told of the reverence Paderewski,
the great pianist, once showed when he was taken to a piano the immortal Beethoven had played upon as an illustration of the highest type of reverence. An American girl had been playing some jazz pieces on the piano when Paderewski made his appearance, the speaker said. She promptly arose from the bench and insisted that the Polish musician play, but was met with refusal. "I cannot play on it," Paderewski said in a spirit of deepest reverence, "not after the great Beethoven has made its keys sacred."

To Attend Convention.
After speaking on the relationship in the ministry and the bar and urging co-operation in developing a greater reverence to combat "the modern movement of unrestraint," Rev. Johnston quoted a statement credited to Aaron Burr in which the dramatic figure of American history is said to have declared that "departure from order means a departure from morals," and closed with an appeal for co-operation in checking the move for extreme personal liberty. "May not our much touted liberty prove a boomerang?"
he asked in concluding.

About thirty-five members of the county bar association plan to attend the first sessions of the state bar convention in Omaha, Monday and Tuesday, according to Robert W. Devore, member of the state executive committee.

Funeral services for Mrs. M. A.
Troyer will be held at 2:30 p. m., Monday at St. Patrick's church in Havelock. Rev. D. B. O'Connor will officiate. Burial in Calvary.

Funeral services for John White-

BIG INCREASE IN 1924 PRODUCTIONTenth Federal Reserve Review Shows Remarkable Improvement.Half Billion Boost Exclusive Of Manufactured
Articles.KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 27.—
Following is the monthly review covering conditions in the Tenth federal reserve district, issued by the Federal Reserve bank of Kansas City:

Production of commodities in the Tenth federal reserve district increased in 1924. The value of production exclusive of manufactured articles, should closely approximate $2,500,000,000, exceeding the value of 1923 production by upwards of $500,000,000. The official compilation of all returns for the year
The enormous amount of newly created wealth wrought a remarkable change in general economic conditions. The close of the year agriculture in the district was on a sounder and more prosperous basis than at any time since the world war. The livestock industry had moved into stronger position, although the depression affecting the range cattle industry had not been entirely cleared away, and the situation pointed to a reduced hog supply. There was a remarkably good year for mineral industries, with peak production in petroleum, lead
and zinc, and some decrease in coal mining operation.

Manufacturing in nearly every line was active, general business improved, and many lines were doing business on a sound and stable basis, with the credit structure the best ever known.

Financial Review.

The money and credit situation in the Tenth district changed but slightly during November. Deposits in banks, reaching the peak of five peak production in petroleum, lead
mining operation.

An outstanding feature of the financial situation, illustrating the change that has come to the Tenth district in recent months, was the prompt response to the government's December offering of $200,000,000 of 4 per cent long term treasury gold bonds. The Tenth district's quota of cash subscriptions to this issue was $4,000,000, yet within a few days the total of $2,915,550 was allocated. In addition to the cash subscriptions there were exchanges of $13,811,750 of third liberty loan 4-1-4 per cent bonds, treasury notes of series A-1925 and treasury certificates of indebtedness of series T M-1925 for the new treasury bonds, which were allocated in full.

Member Banks Reports.

The money and credit situation at the opening week of December was reflected in the combined statement of a list of member banks which report weekly to the Federal Reserve bank of Kansas City. Seventy-one banks on December 3 reported loans aggregating $422,- 423,000, an increase of $2,276,000 over the total on November 5; and the total on December 3 was $11,- 665,000, or 2.7 per cent below the total at the corresponding weekly reporting date in 1923.

Investments held by the seventy-one member banks increased $3,- 770,000 during the four weeks ending December 3, with the total as of that date standing $155,260,000, the largest amount in four years.
The total of investments, compared with one year ago, exhibited an increase of $20,308,000, or 14.6 per cent.

Demand deposits, after reaching the high point of $474,287,000 on November 5, decreased $2,152,000 during the four weeks ending December 3, though the total of $472,- 135,000 on the latter date was $17,- 770,000 or 3.8 per cent above that of December 5, 1923. Time deposits increased slightly during November, and the total of $135,470,000 at the first reporting date in December was $2,553,000, or 1.9 per cent above that of one year ago.

SEA WALLS ARE
FLOOD VALLEYS

signals of distress. Two Yarmouth vessels were brought into port after a terrific battle with the winds.
The British steamer "Sarnia," bound for South Africa, was taken in tow, and, at last reports, was returning to port with its engines disabled.

The British steamer Glen Eden is ashore at Northford, England, some 200 yards from the shore.
Chalk cliffs rise two hundred feet there and shipping men say there is small hope for the vessel.
Landslides were numerous. At Pontypool hundreds of tons of dirt had stopped all train traffic. Tons of earth fell on a train at Ponty-cell and four passengers were injured.

A hurricane and torrential rains swept Dublin. In Edinburgh trees were uprooted, roofs were carried away and street traffic was suspended.

In London air service was cancelled and all sporting events were postponed.

Aquatic Battles Gale.
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The liner
Aquatica, with many homecoming Americans on board, tonight was battling her way slowly toward New York through a terrific gale in mid-Atlantic, radio messages to the Cunard Line revealed.

The latest word received here was the laconic "Very bad weather. Proceeding slowly," which came at three this afternoon. An earlier message said the vessel "was in the midst of a whole gale" unable to make more than nine knots an hour.
Cunard Line officers interpreted a "whole gale" as "the worst kind of a storm, the sea can produce."

The liner reported an average speed from Cherbourg, its last stop, of sixteen knots an hour, seven knots less than normal speed.
The Aquatica is due to arrive here next Tuesday but officials of the line predicted the storm would delay her at least a day.

CHRISTIANA, Norway, Dec. 27.—
Thirteen men are missing, following the wrecking of the steamer Sortland, near Bodø today. Nine were saved.

IS REMOVED

ter the car in which they and four co-eds were returning from Lawrence college. The car was overturned, and from a dance were returned.
The men charged they were not given a proper hearing by the chancellor before their suspension.
Immediately after the dismissal of the students an investigation was started into Dr. Lindley's conduct of the school and was commenced by today's action.

The governor, in his charge against the ousted chancellor, declared that Dr. Lindley "does not now know and never has known his school in the way the responsible head of the school should know it."

Claims Attacks Made.
"He has been responsible for and has encouraged and fostered the and malicious attacks upon the governor and the board of administration that they were trying to inject partisan politics into the school," the charge continued.

Dr. Lindley also accused by Governor Davis of having made steady endeavors to build about him through displacement of old true friends of the university by the appointment of new professors, a personal political machine in the school that would strengthen his own powers and help him in his own arbitrary control of the school and its policies.

As regards the aloofness of Dr.
Lindley, the governor charged that "the head of an important department tried for six months to succeed in getting an interview."
"This spirit of aloofness and aristocracy does not at all comport with the spirit of the university."

Concluding his statement, the governor declared that he had "come reluctantly to this opinion, but I have come conclusively to it."
"No consideration of personal feeling or interest shall cause me to falter in my duty. I love Kansas, I love Kansas university, and I am sworn to uphold the laws. My heart's desire is to protect the interests of the other."

Chancellor E. H. Lindley gave the following signed statement to the United Press tonight:
"The governor and the board of administration in Kansas City have designated me as chancellor. My request for a reasonable time to consider (terms to be specified by the governor); denied my request for a copy of the charges which were called investigations, and denied me a copy of the charges which had been prepared.
"The essential fact is that I have resisted repeated efforts of the governor, acting through the board, to force appointments at the University of Kansas in violation of Kansas statutes.

We court the fullest investigation of the governor's charges.
"The public has also a right to know the extent to which political interference has penetrated or threatened state institutions. I trust the public will hope that the friends of higher education and especially the faculty and students of the university will assist us in conducting this investigation."
(Signed) "E. H. LINDLEY."

BY NEW YEAR'S

and it will occasion no surprise if the list of appointments, when he makes it public, should contain the names of those who did not solicit such consideration.

One place in particular for which the governor-elect is said to have been desirous of getting an especially capable administrator, with the requisite experience and understanding for intelligent performance of the duties, is that of agricultural secretary under the code.
He has had a large number of potential farmers to choose from, but apparently was not altogether satisfied with the volunteers available for the position.

Ned Brown of Arbor, Dwight Dalbey of Fairbury and A. J. Weaver of Falls City have been mentioned as men of the type Mr. McMillen would like to get to head his agricultural department. It is hardly probable that any of this trio would be willing to give up the management of his farms or fruit orchards to serve in such a capacity, even with a $5,000 salary attached.

Bryan Precedent Recalled.
Harking back two years to the time when Governor Bryan came into office, it is remembered that he asked all the department heads who had been serving under the McKelvey administration to remain in their positions until the machinery of government could be reorganized.
It is not believed, however, that Mr. McMillen will follow this precedent.

Bryan's chief reason for asking the old department heads to stay was that he had recommended the repeal of the code law, the abolition of certain activities, and the regrouping of others. He did not wish to name new officials until different administrative machinery had been created. Later, when the legislature refused to do what he wanted, Bryan appointed his own corps of co-assistants.

The question of code repeal will probably not be agitated very strongly in the coming legislative session unless Governor-elect Mc-Millen himself proposes it. If he has anything of that kind in mind, it might help to explain why he has not announced his appointments sooner.

FEAR OMAHA MAN IS THUG VICTIM

L. B. Greenlund Left Home Friday And Has Not Returned.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—L. B. Greenlund with $100 in his pocket, left his home at 5 p. m., Friday, telling his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Marie Greenlund, that he was going for a short walk.

He did not return and she fears he has met with foul play at the hands of a gang.

She spent a large part of the night searching for him and when she came to central police station was nearly frantic with apprehension.

"He has quite a bit of money," she said, "and he has made a practice of befriending men who told him hard-luck stories."

"A few days ago I saw him eating in a small restaurant with several disreputable-looking men. He was paying the bill, doing it out of kindness, but they weren't the kind of men anyone would trust."

She believes a trap may have been laid by some of these "friends" playing upon his sympathies, and that he may have been slugged and robbed.

Greenlund has been a restaurant cashier for about five years.

Lambs Bring Highest Price In Five Years

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—The top price paid for lambs Friday, $18.15 per 100 pounds was the highest price paid on the local market since 1920, and many are predicting that they will reach the $20 mark soon after the new year.

The advance Friday ranged from 25 cents to as much as 50 cents in some instances. Recently the advance has been heavier than is usual, and the fluctuations have been few in comparison with the condition of the market at other times.

Hog prices advanced Friday, the top reaching $10.20 per 100 pounds. The prediction is that hogs will reach the $12 mark by the time the usual heavy winter run is over.

The cattle market is still a little uncertain and very few choice, unfinished steers have been marketed within the last week. The high point quotation for this class of beef cattle is $11.75. The top price paid Friday was $10.10.

Ex-Ray May Free Forgery Suspect

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—An X-ray examination of Eugene Flinn, 22, sentenced to serve three years in the reformatory for forgery, was requested by the young man's father, E. J. Flinn, 1412 North Thirty-fifth street.

District Judge Charles Goss ordered that the examination be made by Dr. Ernest Kelly.

The father told Deputy County Attorney Irvin Stalmaster that a son had been seriously injured in a fall several years ago and he wishes to determine whether the young man suffered any permanent injury which would influence his mental competence.

UPLAND MAN DEAD.

(Special to The Star)

UPLAND, Neb., Dec. 27.—Henry Butenschoen, eighty-three years old, a resident of Upland and vicinity for the past thirty years, died at his home here Friday after a week of illness. He suffered a severe sinking spell Christmas day and did not rally. He was a tanner by trade, being born in a town where he worked his trade for many years, and came to America in 1880, and settled on land near Upland in 1884, and retired to town in 1914. He is survived by one son, Claus, a drayman of Upland, and five grandchildren.

WANTS CARLOAD OF JACK RABBITS

Oregon Man Wishes to Stock Game Farm With Nebraska Bunnies.

Who wants the contract to furnish a carload of live Nebraska jackrabbits for a man in Oregon who wants to start a game farm?

If there is anybody who thinks he could catch that many of the nimble animals, or if some community in the state would like to organize a trapping contest among its sportsmen, Chief Game Warden George Koster will be interested in hearing of it.

It would not be especially difficult to gather up a carload of jackrabbits if the Oregon man were willing to take dead ones as hundreds of them are shot every day in Nebraska. But assembling a carload of live ones would be some task as anyone will agree who is familiar with their reputation for speed.

Warden Koster admits that he hasn't the slightest idea where or how an order of that kind could be filled—not because there is any lack of jackrabbits in Nebraska, but because they are hard to catch.

The letter from Oregon didn't say how much the writer was willing to pay for the carload of jackrabbits. He just inquired of Koster where he could get it.

Claim Christmas Buying Slowed By Poultry Embargo

(Associated Press.)

WYMORE, Neb., Dec. 27.—According to Wymore merchants an effect of the present embargo on Nebraska poultry was reflected in the Christmas trade this year. While business in the Wymore stores was fair, it is claimed that it was not what had been anticipated nor what it should have been, and it is said that the farmer trade was much slower than last year. It is contended that most farmers consider the chicken, egg and butter money as their spending money, and something that comes to them without a great expenditure of cash or labor, and they generally spend this money freely than they will other funds. This revenue was cut off ten days before Christmas, and together with severe weather and rather bad roads, curtailed the holiday buying.

Taken For Rabbit Omaha Man Is Shot By His Companion

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—Twice Carl C. Anderson, 32, has been a target for fellow hunters. Today he is recovering from receiving eighteen shotgun pellets in his face while hunting rabbits with Henry Wathers, near Chalco, Neb.

The two men separated to beat down the brush. Wathers, who was on a hill, saw a flash of brown moving in the underbrush and fired his gun. He discovered that the brown was Anderson's cap, and that the charge had struck him on the side of his head. Several shots were lodged in his head near the ear, above his left eye, and in the scalp.

Anderson was shot in both legs near Chalco, December 19, 1923. For three months he was confined to his bed, but fully recovered.

MARSH REPORTS AN INCREASE IN STATE EXPENSES

Average Cost For All Purposes For Last Three Fiscal Years $12,827,897.

Yearly Income Totals $13,500,758—Property Resources Nearly $70,000,000.

Expenses for operating and administering the state government, institutions and activities of Nebraska have increased slightly during the past three years, says State Auditor Marsh in his biennial report to the governor. His summarized statement, given to the press Saturday, does not show the figures year by year, nor does it show in what departments the increase has occurred.

Expenditures for ordinary opera-to education, support of soldiers' homes, and miscellaneous objects. The remaining $1,103,592 was income collected from trust fund holdings.

The summary takes no account of revolving funds, sale of state lands where the money goes into permanent investment funds, or collections for and disbursements from the bank guaranty fund and the state hail insurance fund. None of these are classified as sources of revenue for the state treasury, but are merely funds held and administered by the state as trustee.

A diagram appended to the auditor's statement shows that in 1922 about $4,000,000 was spent for land, buildings and permanent improvements. The outlay for these items in 1923 jumped to about $4,600,000, but in 1924 it fell back to $3,700,000. Each fiscal year is figured as ending on the date of June 30.

Total property resources of the state are reported aggregating $66,626,335, without any bonded indebtedness.

Bonds of Subdivisions.

During the two years ending June 30, 1924, the state auditor registered county, municipal, school district, county, municipal, school district, county, municipal, school district bonds in the gross amount of $24,718,085. This was at the rate of $1,029,000 per month.

In 1921-22 the monthly average of bonds registered was somewhat greater, being $1,293,016. For 1919-20 the registration came to $921,837 per month. In the two years preceding that period, only about one-third as much was recorded—$318,953 per month.

A registration fee of 10 cents for each bond is recommended by the auditor in order to meet the expense of the work.

Asks Two More Examiners.

The detailed work of examining the books and accounts of ninety-three county treasurers in Nebraska once or twice each year has become so great that the two examiners now employed are not enough, Auditor Marsh declares. He wants provision made for two additional examiners. The law requiring such examinations was passed in 1893, and since then many new duties have been imposed on county treasurers, such as collecting automobile license fees, paying bonds and coupons, and the like, in addition to the great increase in lists of taxpayers, which means more work for the state examiners.

Mr. Marsh also suggests that the law authorizing him to appoint a state accountant be changed so that the governor's approval will not be required. He suggests that the governor has a finance department under his own control to audit the code departments.

A uniform system of accounting, for county treasurers, has been formulated by the auditor's accountant, C. A. Sommer, and has been distributed in pamphlet form for the guidance of those officials.

AUTO NOTES.

The best way to keep an old tube is to partly inflate it and insert it in an old discarded shoe. It can then be stored in the garage or cellar by hanging the tire on the wall.

The fittings of wire wheels will be injured if the lock nuts are not kept tight around the false hubs. These nuts should be frequently inspected and tightened whenever necessary.

Christmas Cheer From Salvation Army

These are the 110 baskets of food, enough to supply a square meal to 2,640 persons, distributed Wednesday afternoon by the local Salvation Army to Lincoln's needy people. Two Christmas programs for the children were also put on last week by these workers. The first was Thursday evening, when 250 members of the Salvation Army Sunday school were entertained, gifts were given and candy distributed. The second was Saturday night, when all the poor children in town were invited. There were trees, toys, good things to eat and good things to wear. The program was put on by the Sunday school children under the direction of Addie Lowe, a high school girl and daughter of W. L. Lowe. Music, readings, recitations, plays and a tableau were given. Captain C. W. Hoppes is in charge of Salvation Army work here, and is assisted by Lieutenant Sylvia Patton.

ALLEGED SLAYER ENDS OWN LIFE

Silesian Officers Find Evidence Of Six Murders and Possibly Others.

BERLIN, Dec. 27.—At least six murders, with some evidence of a dozen others, were attributed today to Karl Denke, a Silesian farmer, who used the skin of his human victims to make suspenders and twine.

Denke committed suicide after his arrest at a lonely farm to which he had lured wandering youth. The police believe they have established another "Haarmann" case.

The farmer lived by himself near the little town of Muensterberg and it has been disclosed that several workmen who went to the farm never returned.

On Christmas eve he attacked a youth with a spade and the intended victim reported the affair to the police. Denke hanged himself in a cell.

Since that time, police have been making one gruesome disclosure after another at the lonely farm house.

They found evidence of six murders, indications of a dozen others, and curious pairs of suspenders and kinds of rope. Examination of the latter showed they had been fashioned from the skins of Denke's victims.

Mrs. Rhinelander Wins Victory In Annulment Fight

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The courts today awarded Grace Jones Rhinelander, whose father declared himself a negro, $2,000 counsel fees and $300 a month alimony, with which to establish her right to remain the wife of the son of one of New York's foremost society families.

Leonard Kip Rhinelander, who courted the little laundress and married her in secret, must pay the above sums pending trial of his suit of annulment of the marriage.

Meanwhile, investigators for both Rhinelander and his bride will search in England and in the West Indies for definite proof of her father's family tree.

Both principals are in hiding. Attorneys for the wife will try to prove:

1.—That the wife's father misrepresented himself as "colored."

2.—That Grace Jones, prior to her marriage into the wealthy Rhinelander family, was a laundress.

Piles Can Be Cured Without Surgery

An instructive book has been published by Dr. A. S. McClary, the noted rectal specialist of Kansas City. This book tells how sufferers from piles can be cured quickly and easily without the use of knife, scissors, "hot" iron, electricity or any other cutting or burning method, without confinement to bed and no hospital bills to pay. The method has been a success for twenty-four years and in more than nine thousand cases. The book is sent postpaid, free to persons afflicted with piles or other rectal troubles who clip this item and mail it with name and address to Dr. McClary, 562 Parkview Sanitarium, Kansas City, Mo.—Advertisement.

150 Deaf Mutes Reach Safety As Institute Burns

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 27.—While fire swept by a thirty-five mile gale was consuming the Deaf and Dumb Institute on the northern outskirts of Montreal this afternoon, one hundred and fifty deaf mute inmates were rescued from the burning building.

A procession, practiced many times, was begun at the first alarm and under the leadership of the Rev. Cadieux, head of the institution, headed the streets in safety.

Under the heading of "capital outlay," which includes all buildings and permanent improvements at state institutions, state highway disbursements, and the cost of constructing the new capitol so far as it has progressed, the annual average for the tri-yearly period is reported at $4,743,495.

The state during the same time has paid out further an average of $1,096,927 per year as temporary trust funds, including the semi-annual school apportionment, income relief fund, and returns on various other funds invested for the benefit of the university, the college of agriculture, and the four state normal schools.

The total of all these expenditures—$12,827,897—is the average of what it has been costing the state for all purposes for the last three fiscal years, Auditor Marsh reports.

To meet this outgo, the state government has had an average yearly income of $13,500,758, according to the auditor's showing. Of that sum, $10,982,071 was current revenue derived from taxes of all kinds, office and inspection fees, cash receipts at state institutions, etc. The United States contributed $1,415,095 per year for highway contribution, aid landers family, did not falsely represent herself as "white."

In his suit for annulment, young Rhinelander charges fraud. Justice Tompkins at White Plains today fixed alimony and counsel fees at an amount that was a compromise between the $1,000 a month and $10,000 for her lawyers, asked by the bride, and the $200 a month and $2,000 fees offered by the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Nebraska vs. Stanford In Western Cinder Meet

HUSKER TRACK MEN TO COAST

Coach Schulte's Nebraska Squad Closes With Stanford U. For Dual Meet At Palo Alto April 4.

Coach Henry F. Schulte's Cornhusker tracksters of the University of Nebraska will head for the Pacific coast early in April for a track and field meet with Coach Templeton's athletes of Stanford university.

Official announcement was made Saturday at Nebraska athletic headquarters that the Cornhuskers had come to a definite understanding with the Stanford authorities and that the Schultemen and the Cardinals will compete Saturday afternoon, April 4, on the Palo Alto cinder path in the first important intercollegiate dual meet of the 1925 track sports campaign.

Faculty permission to Coach Schulte and his Cornhusker squad to make the trip was given some time ago. Although the Nebraska athletes will be absent from Lincoln ten days or more, the western journey fits in with spring vacation at the university and the Husker athletes will be only a few days out of school.

Stanford Coast Leader.

University of California and Stanford are acknowledged leaders in track on the Pacific coast, and Coach Templeton, according to recent information from Palo Alto, is grooming a galaxy of track stars with which he hopes to annex the coast conference title next May.

A Schulte-coached Nebraska squad made their western jaunt two years ago, competing with the California Bears, then national champions in track, in a meet on the Berkeley oval. The Cornhuskers made a superb showing in the track events, capturing six straight titles, but the Bears, always strong in the field events, overcame Nebraska's advantage, the westerners winning the meet, 75 to 48.

Talking With Trojans.

Negotiations for a Nebraska-U. S. C. meet in Los Angeles next week following the competition with Stanford have been hanging fire for the past few weeks. The statement came out of Nebraska headquarters Saturday that definite word had not come from the University of California, but that it still is possible the Huskers and Trojans may get together in a dual meet in the southern California section.

Schulte's Nebraska teams have planned up in Missouri Valley track circles during four straight seasons of competition by winning as many successive conference championships in track. The 1925 squad at the Cornhusker school will include only three of the athletes who won the title two years ago against California-Critics, quarter-mile; Gleason, pole-vaulter, and Cohen, two-miler.

Lost By Graduation.

Graduations the spring of 1924 also made heavy inroads into the Schulte aggregation which captured the Valley title last school year. The track athletes thus lost were Hatch, broad-jumper; Hartman, shot-putter; Turner, high-jumper; Gardner and Higgins, half-milers; and Slemmons, two-miler.

Cornhusker veterans in prospect for the Stanford trip are Locke and Hein, sprinters; Weir and Beckie, high-burdlers; Crites, quarter-mile; Lewis, pole-vaulter; and Ross, miler; Cohen, two-miler; Gleason, Rhodes, broad-jumper, and Myers, slous-thrower and shot-putter. Schulte's coaching job, therefore, (Continued on Page Two.)

$40 Fuss Drove Phenom Flinger Out of Baseball

"Gentleman Jim" Corbett bounded forth not so long ago to point out that his brother Joe was perhaps the only star pitcher that ever quit the game at the height of his career.

And a $40 suit of clothes was the cause of it all.

Joe was a collegian who had made quite a record for himself in behalf of his alma mater. At the time of Joe's graduation in 1914, to suggest a baseball career for him, Joe was willing to jump up and say "Scrappy Bill" Joyce then managing the Washington club in the old National league and influenced Joyce to give the kid a chance.

Joe's first big league game was against Baltimore. Joe was beaten in a close duel. Ned Hanlon, managing Baltimore, took a fancy to Joe Corbett—and at about the same time "Scrappy Bill" Joyce wasn't so sure that the kid was any good. The fact that he was a collegian counted against him—in "Scrappy Bill's" opinion.

Sensation at Baltimore.

Joe's name didn't appear on the Washington reserve list for 1915. Hanlon promptly signed him. Joe got only a few chances in 1915, but performed brilliantly. He became a regular slaban in 1916 and his work that year and in 1917 made him the hurling sensation of the league.

During 1917 Hanlon and Corbett made some sort of bet which involved a $40 suit of clothes. Corbett won, but Hanlon was slow in paying. He made some sort of demand on Hanlon, coughing it with the statement:

"If you don't quit fooling me around and deliver the order for that suit, I'm through with baseball."

Hanlon jokingly said, "Gwan, gwan" to Joe. So Joe went back to California and although he was offered a bonus sufficient to buy him about 75 suits of the $40 variety, in 1918 he refused to report—and never played professional baseball again.

PRESIDENTS OF "BIG TEN" ALL IN FAVOR OF NEBRASKA

Heds of Conference Schools Unanimously On Record As Advocates of Movement to Invite Cornhusker Institution to Come Into Fold; Letters to That Effect In Hands of "Big Ten" Graduate In Omaha.

(Special to The Star.)

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—Presidents of every institution in the "Big Ten" conference are unanimously in favor of inviting the University of Nebraska to take a seat in the conference circle. Announcement to this effect was made in Omaha tonight by William J. Hotz, local attorney and head of an organization of alumni from all the "Big Ten" schools, residents of this city.

"I have received personal letters from the executive heads of all the 'Big Ten' schools," Mr. Hotz said "and the decision is unanimous in favor of the Cornhusker university. Several of the conference presidents informed me that because of Nebraska's large student enrollment and prominence in athletics, it would be to the advantage of the conference to have the Cornhusker school within the organization."

Directors Also In Line.

"And I have received letters from 'Big Ten' athletic directors and head coaches in the same vein," Mr. Hotz said, "and in fact, has been unfavorable. My canvass has proceeded so far and I have had so much to lend encouragement that I am willing to predict that the 'Big Ten' conference, at its spring meeting next June, will formally invite Nebraska to accept full conference membership."

Efforts and interest of Mr. Hotz in Nebraska's behalf were explained by himself tonight. He said that the "Big Ten" conference universities had scores of alumni residing in Omaha. These graduates feel, in the first place, that Nebraska ranks with most of the conference schools in athletic prestige. Second, if "Big Ten" athletic teams are competing with Nebraska at Lincoln, the alumni residing in Omaha would be permitted to keep in close touch with their mother institutions.

Went Before Conference.

Mr. Hotz personally went before December meeting of the "Big Ten" conference in Chicago and presented a petition from the Omaha alumni urging that Nebraska be invited to join the fold. Mr. Hotz received a hearty reception and a special conference committee was appointed to investigate Nebraska's availability for membership. After returning home, Mr. Hotz directed letters to the conference presidents, cordial as to justify his prediction that the Cornhusker school will be asked to join the "Big Ten" fold at an early date.

SUDDEN SHIFT OF NEW YEAR'S ODDS

Notre Dammers No Longer Top Heavy Favorites Over Stanford U.

Coast Critics Are Pointing To Defeat of Missouri And Syracuse.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—Crushing defeats sustained by Syracuse and Missouri at the hands of the University of Southern California eleven, western representatives, threaten to cause a big shift in wagering over the outcome of the Notre Dame-Stanford struggle, scheduled for the Pasadena Roggio bowl, Jan. 1.

Although the "Fighting Irish" from South Bend are undefeated and possess what is termed the greatest machine in the country, those who follow football closely today arrived at the conclusion that the west is likely to pull anything in the way of gridiron surprises.

Until the University of Southern California smeared Missouri, a representative middle-western outfit, backers of the Notre Dame team made Knute Rockne's eleven 2 to 1 favorites and gave Notre Dame fourteen points.

Right now the eastern eleven is a 2 to 1 favorite, but the fourteen points put is missing and it is the general opinion that Notre Dame will be fortunate if it wins by 7 or even 10 points.

SEEKS TO FILL DAWSON'S SHOES

Former Cornell Grid Star Anxious to Serve As Husker Coach.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—Cornell university alumni, residents of Omaha, are boosting George Pfann, Cornell's sensational quarterback of 1923 and assistant coach to Gil Dobie last fall, for the head football coaching vacancy at the University of Nebraska.

The Cornell graduates, after a conference here tonight, dispatched a wire to Fred T. Dawson, Nebraska director of athletics, who is on his way to the New York collegiate convention, urging that Pfann be considered seriously for the Nebraska position.

Pfann, it is stated here, is ready to fill a formal application for the place and will have the hearty support and recommendation of Dobie, his former tutor, who is regarded as one of the great coaches in American football.

Bringing Cagesters Win From Shickley On Bruning Floor

BRUNING, Neb., Dec. 27.—Bruning's town basketball team reeled off its second victory Friday night on the local floor, defeating the Shickley town quintet, 25 to 11.

It was anybody's game until the start of the fourth quarter, when the score stood 11-all. The local offensive suddenly began to function and the Bruning tossers added 14 points to their total, while the visitors failed to register in the score column. G. Steyer, with six field goals and one free throw, led in the scoring for Bruning.

The Bruning team will entertain the Ohiowa town team next Tuesday night on the local floor and clash with a fast Beatrice five New Year's night. Score of the Bruning-Shickley game:

The team today received $30,000 as its share of the receipts of the Los Angeles game which will be added to the $90,000 Memorial stadium fund being raised for a stadium and athletic building on the home campus. Additional funds will be raised at the banquet tonight and members of the football team will not be surprising if the $100,000 needed to complete the fund is subscribed before the party leaves California.

Coach Henry said U. S. C. was the "best" team he has faced in 11 years. He declined to comment upon the meeting of Stanford and Notre Dame.

CONFIRMED BY ATHLETIC BOARD

Statement that the Missouri Valley conference eligibility committee had passed on the cases of Bloodgood and Myers and formally ruled that the two players were ineligible for 1925 football.

By reason of the doubt involved in the case of the former Beatrice high athletes, the Nebraska authorities decided, prior to the termination of the 1924 football season, to submit the facts to Valley and "Big Ten" eligibility authorities and request official rulings. The reply from the "Big Ten" came several weeks ago and the decision was to the effect that the players were ineligible for 1925 football. Responses by the members of the Valley conference committee were delayed, but the ultimate ruling was to the same effect as the "Big Ten" decree—the players were not eligible for football next fall; they had played the full three seasons permitted by Valley rules.

The purchase of Lefty Groves, star pitcher of the International league, for the reported price of $100,000 to the Athletics.

The appointment of Eddie Collins as manager of the White Sox. Repeated rumors of Collins' departure from the Sox, and spurned opportunities of the club to name him pilot on previous occasions "killed" much of the interest in this appointment.

THE DEPARTURE OF DEL PRATT

The departure of Del Pratt, Jeff Pfeffer, Larry Gardner and one or two other popular veterans from the ranks of the big timers.

The European tour of the Giants and White Sox all-star team. This was the first of such collections to win the distinction of playing a nine-inning game for the benefit of 20 Irishmen in Dublin.

The unanimous action of the baseball writers in choosing the Washington club to finish anywhere from eighth to sixth place.

Bringing Cagesters Win From Shickley On Bruning Floor

BRUNING, Neb., Dec. 27.—Bruning's town basketball team reeled off its second victory Friday night on the local floor, defeating the Shickley town quintet, 25 to 11.

It was anybody's game until the start of the fourth quarter, when the score stood 11-all. The local offensive suddenly began to function and the Bruning tossers added 14 points to their total, while the visitors failed to register in the score column. G. Steyer, with six field goals and one free throw, led in the scoring for Bruning.

The Bruning team will entertain the Ohiowa town team next Tuesday night on the local floor and clash with a fast Beatrice five New Year's night. Score of the Bruning-Shickley game:

CONFIRMED BY ATHLETIC BOARD

Statement that the Missouri Valley conference eligibility committee had passed on the cases of Bloodgood and Myers and formally ruled that the two players were ineligible for 1925 football.

By reason of the doubt involved in the case of the former Beatrice high athletes, the Nebraska authorities decided, prior to the termination of the 1924 football season, to submit the facts to Valley and "Big Ten" eligibility authorities and request official rulings. The reply from the "Big Ten" came several weeks ago and the decision was to the effect that the players were ineligible for 1925 football. Responses by the members of the Valley conference committee were delayed, but the ultimate ruling was to the same effect as the "Big Ten" decree—the players were not eligible for football next fall; they had played the full three seasons permitted by Valley rules.

BROWN'S SPORT REVIEW FOR 1924.

Moguls Cause Baseball's Supremacy to be Challenged; Hits Diamond High Spots.

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.

The year 1924 goes down in history as one of the greatest—at least from America's standpoint—in the annals of sport.

Triumphs of Uncle Sam's sons

and daughters in the major sports, the Olympics games and in the so-called minor branches added prestige to his laurels in great and generous globe.

Baseball, as usual, takes front rank in the amount of interest invoked and the thrills furnished. But there is a warning to the blind baseball moguls and all concerned in the progress of the diamond sport in the way both golf and tennis increased their holds on the rank and file of sport lovers.

Here with are the outstanding features of the baseball season, ranked according to their importance.

Washington's Triumph First.

The winning of the American League and world's championship by the Washington club.

The manly revelation of Heinie Sand, Philadelphia National League infielder, that Jimmy O'Connell of the Giants had offered him a bribe to throw the game needed by the Giants to win the National League pennant.

The disgraceful school-boy squabbling of Commissioner Landis and President Ban Johnson of the American league.

The superior leadership of Stanley Harris, Washington manager, in his first effort as manager of a big league club.

The strikeout record of Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn pitcher, and his all-around work which won him the title of most valuable player to his team in the National league.

ing the 1925 season. When the question of Bloodgood's eligibility was raised, the player made it plain that he was anxious to have another football year, whether captain or not. The player, who had declined to consider offers from managers of professional baseball teams, declaring that to tie up with "pro" baseball might be interpreted in university athletic circles as a case of quitting under fire because of the invalidation of the captaincy office.

Helped Win Missouri Game.
Loss of Bloodgood and Myers by the 1925 Cornhuskers will blow a state university football. Bloodgood displayed surprising development while playing quarterback during the season of 1924 and earned a rating as one of the most proficient team players in Valley conference circles. He flashed marked ability in returning opposition punts and his individual performance was a potent factor in Nebraska's defeat of Missouri, 14-6. Myers, varsity fullback, was out of the lineup nearly half the season, but easily won his spurs as a defensive fullback of high rank. The aggressive tackling of Myers and Captain Weir during the Illinois game had much to do with the success of the Red Grange, stopping the famous Red Grange.

Good Material in Sight.
With Bloodgood crossed off the slate, the Nebraska coaching staff will face the task of developing a first-string quarterback for practice gets under way next September. Fortunately for the Cornhusker cause, the material in prospect is encouraging. In addition to Bronson and Kamm, varsity fullback, the 1925 squad will include two quarterbacks of exceptional promise in Stephens, ex-Hastings athlete, and "Jug" Brown, former Lincoln high player, survey of the field, and, apparently, justifies the prediction that the 1925 Cornhuskers will be better equipped with high-class quarterback material than in many football seasons.

factors, that won flags for Brooklyn.

Gave the Best He Had.
In passing from the majors, Olson had this to say:

"I gave Brooklyn the best I had. It didn't seem to satisfy the fans during any of the years I played in a Dodger uniform. That Robinson was happiness to make up for any of the hurts that sometimes came when the natives gave me the daily portion of raspberries."

"I was always glad—especially in the years when we were fighting for a pennant—that the fans picked on me and let the other fellows alone. It's possible if the fellows weren't so busy giving me the hoity-hoits, they'd have centered a little of their vocal volleys upon some of my mates who might not have been able to stand up under it all, as I was. If they had banged away at some of the others, they might have cracked and then those two flags."

Swimmers Had Great Year In '24 Smashing Records

When the limit of world's records be reached in athletics, swimming, etc.

During the year 1924 there were over 150 new marks set by athletes of all nations in various parts of the world, mostly the United States and Europe with the United States leading by a good margin. The greatest number of records smashed were in athletics and swimming.

Quite a number of new marks were set during the Olympic games at Paris during the year, some of the performances being remarkable. One of the greatest performers at the big games was Paavo Nurmi, the wonderful runner from Finland. Two decades ago Ailsa Shrubbs of Great Britain was considered the marvel of the century at distance running, but during the past year Nurmi has surpassed several of the marks by the famous Shrubbs.

Paddock in Spotlight.
Another marvel in running is Charley Paddock of Pasadena, Calif., but the injury to his ankle, which he suffered while playing basketball in Iowa, cut down his speed somewhat without a doubt. Even under these adverse conditions Paddock was able to set two new world's records. H. M. Abrahams of England proved himself a remarkable sprinter over the 100 yards, as did E. H. Liddell of the same country, try for 100 meters. Jackson Scholz, H. Wilson, Alfred Lacey, Louis Clark and Albert Washington were all American sprinters who performed in wonderful style during the year.

Dean Brownell of Illinois was a marvel at pole vaulting and Charles Brookins, Ivan Riley, Carl Christensen, Karl Anderson and Taylor of Illinois were remarkable hurdlers. Harold Osborne was just as great in high jumping and all around work.

Johnny Weissmuller of Chicago was the swimming marvel among the men, with Andrew Charlton of Australia and Arne Borg of Sweden. The girl swimming wonder was Helen Wainwright, Gertrude Ederle, Agnes Geraghty, Ethel Lackie, Adelaide Lambert, Doris Omara, Helen Riggall of American and Hilma James of England all smashing records.

Chilhowee led the running marks in record-making, while six marks were broken in trotting and one in pacing.

The world's record-breaking performances of the year follow:

GLOVE PASTIME HAD GREAT YEAR

Mitten Knights Right Busy
During the Twelve Months of '24.

Fighters Did Lot of Fighting, But Gate Receipts Were Below Standard.

The year 1924 goes out with a record of many boxing matches held during the twelve months, but not such a successful year financially as during 1923. There was no Dempsey match to swell the receipts and add "another million dollar" purse, each as the Dempsey fight was in New York in the fall of 1923.

During the year there were over 11,140 boxing contests held, an average of 220 every week during the entire year, but in boxing, like other sports, with the possible exception of baseball, there were probably just as many contests held in England during the year and at least 3,000 in Australia. Boxing, like other amusements, suffered on account of the money shortage and so many young men being out of employment. The high prices paid for some of the attendance down. That was proven in New York state. In the big metropolis, the fans fell off at a better class of attractions, at a time when the promoters kept the standard of prices—$1 to $2—where the fans stuck to their guns and patronized as always.

Fans Demand Fair Prices.
Then again in many places the fans demanded new faces and a better class of attractions, at a time when the promoters kept the standard of prices—$1 to $2—where the fans stuck to their guns and patronized as always.

While America has advanced rapidly in everything pertaining to boxing, the mother country of the game—Great Britain—has gone backward. Ever since the war, England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland have not shown the class of boxers they previously exhibited. They need a new crop of young fighters with some good clever American instructors to help them along with the respect.

Now, just now Tex O'Rourke, boxing, has two young English boxers whom he is training under the American system. Both are heavyweights and fairly promising.

Australia On the Map.
Australia, too, has not been holding her own in a boxing way. Three decades ago she had some wonderful fighters; in fact, Bobbed the world in that Tracey, George Fitzsimmons, Young Griffo, Joe Goddard, Jim Hall, Billy Murphy and others of that time were in a class by themselves. The late Lee Darcy was a near as good as the world's champion, but he was not ready to start the world in a boxing line. Now they are a young welterweight, but whether he can stand against our own Mickey Walker remains to be seen.

Since the passing has not flashed greatly in the mitt game, Georges Ledoux and Criqui made a great trio—one that France, Italy is not duplicate in the front now coming handily and so is Germany, Holland, Sweden and Belgium.

Firpo Dead One at Home.
Even South America and Mexico have the fever and are developing youngsters for the mitt game. Luis Firpo's downfall in the States, however, made him lose prestige in his own country.

California came into the fold during the fall of 1924 as a legalized state for the fight game. Twelve rounds are permitted and decisions are permitted. That means a strong rival to New York state for championship matches, for it was California that had a monopoly on title bouts that had a monopoly on title bouts that had a monopoly on title bouts.

There were few big championship events during the year. Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, holder, and Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, were without opponents of real class in their respective divisions.

Duhdee Forfeits Title.
Johnny Dundee, feather and junior lightweight champion, lost the latter title and gave up the former, having convinced himself that he could no longer make the strong. There is no doubt that Johnny hurt himself when he made the weight for Eugene Cribari.

of Franco in 1923 and the thought of "staving himself for a defense of the title made him give it up."

Ted Lewis, who once held the welterweight title in the States, losing it to Jack Britton, is returning to America again for the purpose of challenging Mickey Walker for the crown. While in England Ted won all three titles at one time—feather, middle and light-heavy—but lost the latter two afterwards, and just recently lost his welter crown to Tommy Milligan, a new comer from Scotland.

Struggling Real Comer.
Young Stribling, the school boy fighter, is a challenger for Gene Tunney's light-heavyweight title and so is Tommy Gibbons. A peculiar thing about the Gibbons boys, Mike and Tommy—both are admitted the best in their classes, but still neither one has ever held a championship. Mike McGlone holds the world's title in the class, but he has side-stepped all four for the time being, although Mike asserts that after he gets a couple of matches under his belt he will take on the entire bunch of challengers. Stribling is a much improved lad over what he was a year ago and is a real contender now.

Pancho Villa, the little Filipino who holds the flyweight title, has gone home to Manila for a visit and his crown is safe for a time. When he returns he will have Kid Carlin of New Orleans on the improving again. The latter is fast improving again. The latter is fast improving again. The latter is fast improving again.

Abe Goldstein recently lost the bantam crown he got from Joe Lynch. Goldstein's opponent, the Buddy Taylor and Johnny Brown, to reckon with, any one of whom will make it mighty interesting for "Gonzo" Greb remains supreme in the middle class, but new faces are appearing who may make him sit up and take notice before long. Jimmy Delaney and Jimmy Slat. Jimmy are both good boys, but a bit too heavy for the 160-pound class. However, they will qualify for the light heavies this season.

Heavyweight is king of the ring. Leonard is king of the lightweights, but he is ready and willing to enter the welter ranks for a big match with either Walker. The past year matched up the tickets he demanded for his friends—that is ringside tickets. He had much to do with the show being given.

Benny Sour On Scalpers.
Benny did not intend to have his friends pay big prices to scalpers for the best seats, so the story goes, he did not defend his lightweight title unless his opponent is card enough to warrant a big fight.

There are several other chances, among them, Bobby Barrett, Joe Benjamin and Tommy O'Brien. The list of O'Brien is apparently the best, sensational fighter to help the promotion. He is a regular meeting, gave recognition to the junior welterweight class and also to Pinky Mitchell of Milwaukee as champion of the world.

Mitchell broke his arm in a bout with Joe Anderson at Cincinnati last summer, but it has mended nicely and he will be ready to defend the championship. Anderson is a champion of the title and so has Sid Barbarian, Johnny Mendelson, Basil Galliano, Johnny O'Donnell, Joe Benjamin and others.

Boxers Forming Unions.
Milwaukee boxers followed in the footsteps of the New York brethren by forming a boxers' union. They wish to affiliate with the similar unions in other boxing centers. It is the intention of the union to fight against the practice of so-called "strong" promoters, but whether they can stand against our own Mickey Walker remains to be seen.

Since the passing has not flashed greatly in the mitt game, Georges Ledoux and Criqui made a great trio—one that France, Italy is not duplicate in the front now coming handily and so is Germany, Holland, Sweden and Belgium.

CADILLAC COACH NOW ON DISPLAY

Harry Williams Company Exhibits Striking New 1925 Model.

The new Cadillac coach, built on the standard V-63 chassis is now being displayed by Harry Williams Cadillac Co., 1323 P street. This beautiful new body, which was developed by Cadillac and Fisher engineers, possesses ample seating capacity for five, is well proportioned, low, graceful and beautifully finished. It is a car for great utility and unusual value.

The Cadillac Motor Car company, in designing this striking new body style, has left nothing undone to make it one of the outstanding features of the Cadillac line in 1925. The coach is finished in Cadillac Duco green, relieved by an appropriate stripe. The large plate-glass windows, which lower or raise with ease, combined with the one-piece ventilating windshield, make the coach as light and airy as an open model.

The wide flush doors afford easy access to the roomy interior, which is trimmed in taupe mohair plush with carpet to match. The individual folding front seats are models of comfort, and the rear seat, which has a width of 50 1-2 inches, possesses ample room for three passengers.

The price of the new Cadillac coach has been placed at $3,185, f. o. b. Detroit, which is the same as the open car, and will undoubtedly extend the sales field of the Cadillac organization. The specifications include Marshall custom springs in cushions, rear vision mirror, automatic windshield wiper, dome light, Colonial hardware, thumb-lever lock on inside of left door, outside door lock on right door window, regulators on doors and rear-quarter windows, foot rest, trunk rack, windshield visor, patented door check on top of doors, and center hood hinge.

The Cadillac coach is an ideal year-round car, as its wide windows afford an unobstructed field of vision, and admit all the light and air that any fresh air devote could wish, with instant protection against sudden rain storms and inclement weather.

Safety on Steep Grades.
In using the automobile engine for braking, it should be driven in relation to the speed of the car, the greater will be the resistance offered. On gradual declines the resistance in high gear or direct drive may be sufficient. On steeper grades it is best to shift into intermediate gear before beginning the descent. On very steep mountain grades, on which one should proceed slowly, it is advisable to shift even into low gear.

The foot brakes must act smoothly and positively. An uncertain brake will cause the wheel to jerk and slip, thereby scraping and tearing at the tread of the tire.

MOTORS AND THEIR CARE.

A Cold-Weather Tip.
Because cold makes the glass brittle, care should be exercised when opening or closing the windshield during the winter months. If one side is pulled out more than the other, the glass is liable to crack.

Causes of Rattles.
Rattles are due to loose or worn parts. Loose parts are caused by loose nuts, as a rule. If the nuts on the car are tightened now and then, rattles from this cause will rarely, if ever, occur. Worn parts are largely due to neglect of lubrication.

Liquid Dressing for Radiator.
The best coating for the fins of the radiator is a mixture of three ounces of linseed oil, four ounces of lampblack and one ounce of turpentine. Though this mixture gives a protective black coating, it does not restrict the radiation properties to any appreciable extent.

Treatment for Overheated Engine.
Steam sizzling from the radiator cap is a sure indication that the engine is overheated and needs attention. At the warning, the car should be stopped and the engine given time to cool. Then proceed slowly and carefully until reaching the garage and then follow this procedure to find and remedy the trouble:

Tighten the fan belt.
Have carbon cleaned out.
See that muffler is not clogged.
Drain, flush and refill the radiator.
See that valves are timed properly.

Drain out old oil and refill with new.
Inspect hose connections against leakage.
Then, when driving, be sure that the spark is advanced to the proper point. Adjustment of the spark to contingencies of driving is an important detail in successful motoring.

Tire Abuse on Rough Roads.
Reckless driving of a car over rough or stony roads has the same effect on the tires every time they meet an obstruction as the pounding of a tire with a heavy hammer, according to tire men. A blowout may happen any time with broken fabric, furthermore, the broken fabric is almost certain to pinch the tube, inasmuch as the thin rubber, of which the tube is composed, when filled with air, will find its way into surprisingly small spaces.

Always Use Good Oil.
It pays to use a good grade of oil. Economy in this respect will prove a false economy. A much higher grade of oil is necessary for the automobile engine than for the steam engine, and almost any kind of machine, because the gas engine is subjected to greater heat, and a poor oil will "crack" and decompose into carbon. This carbon will not only get on the piston head and valve heads, but it will get into the piston rings and prevent them from functioning properly.

When focusing headlights, cover one of them with a cloth until the other is adjusted.

Sudden skidding wears a flat place in the tread and causes separation in the tire carcass.

Tacking or gluing a thin strip of inner tube to the door jamb will be effective for stopping the creaks and rattles.

The average automobile is good for about six years, and the average yearly mileage is 6,000, or 40,000 miles during the life of the car.

Sharks With Cue Threaten Reign Of Willie Hoppe

The record-breaking high run of 472, made by Roger Conti, former French 18.2 balkline champion, in a European championship tournament game in Paris recently, has revived discussion of the proposed French billiard association to send three players to meet Hoppe, Schaefer and Welker Cochran, the three American stars in a Franco-American balkline match, has met with such a cordial response on the part of American billiard followers that it would not be surprising to see the French trio in this country before many weeks have passed. The sensational performances in the present European tournament also have increased interest in the special match.

Monotony of High Runs.
It was the monotony of high runs that resulted in the development of the balkline game and the passing of straight rail as a championship division. There was a proposal made a few months ago by a well-known billiard expert to substitute a new game, to be known as five-zone billiards, for 18.2 balkline in the world's championship matches, but this met with such strong opposition from most of the leading 18.2 balkline players, led by Hoppe and young Jake Schaefer, that the proposal temporarily was abandoned. However, the five-zone game will receive an official trial by the amateurs, and the first tournament of this kind will be held in Boston later in the season.

The consistency of the 18.2 balkline stars in being able to compile a high run is likely to result in a revival of the now almost extinct 18-1 balkline game, as Hoppe said when asked for his views on the five-zone game:

"If the billiard officials and followers believe 18.2 is too easy, why resort to such a drastic change as that suggested in the five zone? The 18.1 has not been found too easy. Why not give that game a better trial?"

Plans already have been launched for an international 18.1 tournament to be held in New York next season, just a short time after the holding of the 1926 international 18.2 balkline tournament. There also is a possibility that the 18.1 tournament may receive the preference. The amateurs revived 18.1 balkline last year and the first tournament was won by Francis S. Appleby, the former eastern 18.2 balkline champion. He made a creditable showing and his performances at this difficult style of game were surprising.

Frenchmen May Come.

Aside from the agitation to make balkline more difficult, it is apparent that billiards has taken a firm hold in Europe. The records compiled in the European tournament now in progress, as well as those of the last two years, show that the balkline players abroad are deserving of recognition. France, especially, has developed a number of highclass players of late. Conti is the outstanding star at present, but in Edmond Derbier, defending French champion, and Felix Grange, France has two other players of merit. Conti and Derbier, as well as Grange, may be seen in America before the season is over. One French player is virtually certain to take part in the world's title tournament, but the suggestion of the French billiard association to send three players to meet Hoppe, Schaefer and Welker Cochran, the three American stars in a Franco-American balkline match, has met with such a cordial response on the part of American billiard followers that it would not be surprising to see the French trio in this country before many weeks have passed. The sensational performances in the present European tournament also have increased interest in the special match.

Road Conditions

The following report of road conditions in this region was given out by the Lincoln Auto club Saturday:

Dirt roads in the vicinity of Lincoln are in very bad condition, choppy and rough, and on some east and west roads, especially east of street, snow is drifted. Gravel dirt roads may be worked or dragged the first part of the week, possibly Monday, but they are in such condition that it is nearly impossible to improve them any. Roads are impassable from twelve miles west of Hastings to McCook. From five miles west of Grand Island to Lexington, heavy snows are reported and many drifts. It is not advisable to try to drive west at this time. Snow is drifted on east and west roads near Norfolk.

D-L-D No. 7 excellent to Ashland, Choppy and rutty for ten or twelve miles leaving Ashland. Roads in the vicinity of Omaha are passable but rutty.

D-L-D No. 7 good where gravelled to Hastings, but dirt roads just passable. Twelve miles west of Hastings to McCook impassable today.

C. H. No. 9 excellent to Cortland, good to Beatrice. Beatrice to Manhattan fair.

C. H. No. 9 terrible to Ceresco. Gravelled roads good into Fremont, north of Fremont, poor.

S. Y. A. No. 11 bad to Seward, use D. L. D. No. 7 to Milford turn then north. Open to Utica, then bad to Grand Island, and practically impassable to Lexington. Roads in all directions out of Grand Island, bad.

Harding highway to Nebraska City, bad in Lancaster county, then fairly good into Nebraska City. Meridian highway, York south to state line, fair.

Golden Rod, No. 5, passable, but only in fair condition, very rough most of the way.

Kansas roads fair. Missouri poor. Roads in the vicinity of Alliance and Crawford, Scottsbluff and Kimball, while snow covered are in fair to good condition.

It is impossible to drive to California via the extreme southern route. Roads are fair to good this route.

All connections in the electrical system should be clean and tight, being scraped or sandpapered. Slightly loose or dirty connections may cut down the brilliancy considerably.

DUCO

Duco finish is destined to revolutionize the motor car finishing industry. It is already used by manufacturers as a standard finish on thousands of cars, and has proved out in grilling road tests covering thousands of miles in all kinds of weather over all kinds of roads.

Alone among auto finishes, Duco improves with age.

BY LYNNELLE GREER.

It has been a good many years since the scattered citizens of early Lincoln aired their various legal difficulties before the village justice of the peace. As a matter of fact it has been close to sixty-five years since the original county general election provided for even for justice of peace and a constable.

At the last general election a municipal judge was named, who will take the place of police judge and justice of the peace. At this first election two men were named to serve in the capacity of justice of peace, and two more were named as constables.

The election was held at the home of W. T. Donovan, and every male resident of Lancaster county had a voice in it.

That was several years before Lincoln was christened the capital of the state, and also several years before Nebraska had been accepted as a state. It was still under territorial jurisdiction and the large cases that came up, if there were any, were heard before the territorial judge, who ever he happened to be.

The justice of peace answered the purpose of police and county judge and all of the so-called trifling affairs were heard before him. There were two of these officers named at the first general election. One of them was Festus Reed, and the other was Richard Wallingford. Mr. Reed later on served as probate judge.

The office of probate judge was filled by various men who were elected at the county elections and who seemed to satisfy the entire county.

The first probate judge, that one or two Lincoln attorneys can remember trying cases before was Judge John C. Adams. He served for two years and in October of 1862, Stephen B. Found was elected to this office.

First Police Judge.

The first police judge, C. H. Street, was elected in 1871, the late R. E. Moore served in that capacity in 1873.

The police court was moved about from place to place as the various judges were elected. The majority of them held court in their offices, but when J. Stuart Dales was elected he decided that he would not have the police court in his office and held court in a little building on South Eleventh street next to where the Ensign Livery barn used to be.

This was in 1877 and Judge Dales had been graduated from the state university just a short time.

"The population of Lincoln must have been close to twenty thousand people at that time," Judge Dales said. "And the town was wide open. There were saloons and breweries and everything else that could make the town a pretty bad place, and we did quite a great deal of business."

"The jail was in the basement of the building where I held court and we kept all of our prisoners down there. I had everything to handle that came under the city, and the police judge at that time was examining magistrate, also."

Following Judge Dales came Judge Foxworthy and Judge McLean but Judge Dales was not sure which one came first. There was Judge Houston and Judge Parsons, and then Judge H. J. Whitmore, who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Judge Parsons for maltreatment of prisoners.

Judge Parsons was removed during the time A. J. Sawyer served as mayor and, with the unanimous support of the council, Mr. Parsons was voted out, and the city officials appointed in his stead, J. H. Whitmore, who was a democrat. The mayor and all the council were republicans.

Put in Jail.

Mr. Parsons, so the story goes, was indignant and through his attorney, L. C. Burr, had the mayor and the council haled into federal court in Omaha, where they were fined. Each member refused to pay his fine and so they were all put in jail. They stayed there for about week, until G. M. Lamberton had had time to go back to Washington, D. C., where the supreme court telegraphed back an order stating that the federal court had no right to interfere with city matters of that nature.

Mr. Whitmore filled the office from October of 1887, until the spring of 1888, when W. J. Houston was elected to the office.

ton was elected. The election of police judge, was an annual affair at that time.

"My early years as police judge were not pleasant," Judge Whitmore said. We had the open and legalized saloon as well as the unlicensed vendor, one or more gambling houses, and the restricted district.

"Every morning the police judge was confronted with an array of plain drunks, P. D.'s as they were called. Many of these persons were reeking with the fumes of liquor and their clothing was often filthy and foul smelling.

"Things have changed considerably since that time. And now since the saloons and gambling houses are things of the past, and when most of the offenders come to court in their own motor vehicles, police court is quite agreeable.

"During my first connection with the office there was a frequent visitor a man, who lived with his wife in one of the old frame houses that then existed on the north side of O street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets. This couple were addicted to the use of drugs and liquor. The man had a male child of like propensities and the three were often drunk together. On one of these occasions the husband charged that the other fellow caught him, gave him a shake and attempted to assault his wife and the man was brought before me on that charge. While the trial was proceeding I observed the husband acting in a peculiar manner and I became apprehensive for the safety of the defendant. I directed an officer's attention to the husband, and he watched him closely. Suddenly the husband made a drive toward the defendant. The officer band charged that the other fellow caught him, gave him a shake and attempted to assault his wife and the man was brought before me on that charge. While the trial was proceeding I observed the husband acting in a peculiar manner and I became apprehensive for the safety of the defendant. I directed an officer's attention to the husband, and he watched him closely. Suddenly the husband made a drive toward the defendant. The officer

It was the 14th of March in 1892 that this happened. Court was in session and Judge Borgelt had just finished a case and was making a notation in his book when a man rushed from the back room, shoved a gun close to Mr. Borgelt and fired.

The first bullet penetrated his

Judge Borgelt was too surprised to do anything but look up at the man who had fired the shot. As he did so, the man fired again and the bullet struck the head just below the left eye. Judge Borgelt sank back unconscious and before the man could fire the third shot he had been seized by the officers. It took a number of them and the forcible use of their clubs before the man was finally subdued.

The fellow who did the shooting, and whose name was Carroll, had been up twice before Judge Borgelt and fined by him for petty offenses. An attempt on the life of the judge was his method of revenge. He was sentenced to twelve years in prison but became violently insane and was removed to the asylum. Still later he was removed to the incurable hospital in Hastings and died there, but not before he had killed two inmates in one of his fits of violence.

The fact that a cheap revolver had been used by Carroll was the only thing that saved the life of Borgelt. It succeeded in paralyzing him on one side and for some time he lost the power of speech. But after several months he gained back his speech and gradually the power to use his right side was also restored.

There is still a deep scar over the left eye, and Mr. Borgelt has a silver plate in his forehead. Part of the bullet is still in the back of his head, it is claimed.

Following Judge Borgelt came Judge Frank Waters. And after him came one of Lincoln's prominent attorneys today, William B. Comstock.

Judge Comstock served from 1898 until 1902. There were no speeders and no offenders of the parking ordinance, but according to Judge Comstock there was plenty of business anyway.

"The nearest thing we had to speeders were people who insisted upon riding bicycles on the sidewalk," Judge Comstock said. "We generally fined them a dollar and costs, just like the first offender in speeding usually gets now."

"There were several saloons in Lincoln and we were kept pretty busy. There were a good many vagabonds of most every description, and we generally had a court full of a variety of offenders each morning."

There was not a separate court room then as there has been the past few years. Court was held down stairs in the jail and the judge sat at what is now the captain's desk.

The next judge after Judge Comstock was P. James Cosgrave who served for five years and would no doubt have served much longer but for the fact that he was appointed to fill a vacancy on the district bench.

Judge Cosgrave had a rather hectic career as police judge. Several attempts were made upon his life by various men and one or two of them almost succeeded.

"Lincoln was wide open then," Judge Cosgrave stated. "We had saloons, plenty of them, and the red light district. Knife using was a common occurrence, and we had disturbances of all kinds."

"I was police judge under the regime of Jim Malone, whom I consider one of the greatest human sleuths of his time."

CASEMENTS GIVE ENGLISH EFFECT

Used In Stratford Manor to Carry Out General Architectural Scheme.

Are One of Most Useful Window Types, Also, And Has Growing Popularity.

To carry out the English scheme of architecture at Stratford Manor the use of casements instead of the ordinary double-hung window is specified. In groups of two or four; the casements, which open outward, are peculiarly effective; and they add to Stratford Manor that appearance of constancy which is so important a feature of good architecture.

There is something appealing about casements as distinguished from the ordinary double-hung or "guillotine" windows. Perhaps the romantic, sentimental idea of "wide flung casements" may have something to do with their popularity; and the idea of tidy rows of blooming plants in pots. But there are also practical features which insure the increasing popularity of the casement.

The English type of house would not seem right unless it had casements; there is almost no type of house in which the casement can be substituted with improvement. In not being used with improvement, it has been planned for the ordinary double hung windows, casements can be substituted by using the nearest size, and changing the frames to correspond.

Use Entire Space. The outstanding advantage of casements is the fact that they permit the use of the whole window opening, while the two-sash win-

Fireplace the Center of the Home

The fireplace is in truth the center of the home fortunate enough to possess one, and fairy stories, toasted marshmallows, and traditions of Christmas and Santa Claus lose some of their vividness and their joyfulness to the children who live in a home without a fireplace.

The furnace and the gas range have supplanted the fireplace in its usefulness for heating and cooking; and the modern home finds the open grate useful only as a sort of auxiliary heating plant, for cool evenings in fall and spring, and for the after-dinner hours when a snapping grate fire makes warmth a matter of sight as well as feeling.

Where the outward opening is used the entire wall space is left free for

The fireplace with its andirons and shovels and coalbuckets, is the central part of the decorative scheme of the room, but careful attention must be given to decoration through the other parts of the room where a fireplace is used. Dignity it must have; and through simplicity, the effect of reality is most often achieved.

Through the harmonization of furniture, draperies, and rugs, the desirable effect of careful planning can be achieved; and the beauty of harmony is enhanced by repetition of a relieving color tone through brick or brass, and in smaller bits of upholstery or drapery in the room.

furniture. These are also more attractive from outside when they are open. Those which open inward are easier to clean, of course, as the whole job can be done from inside the house.

So many improvements have been made in the past few years that the former stock objection to the casement is practically removed. Hard-ware properly chosen, insures weather proof openings in any but the most extreme climates; and the use of well-designed window frames will predicate comfort in connection with them.

Screening of the casement has become a problem. For the one which opens inward, there is no distinction from the double-hung type of window, but for the house which requires outward-swinging casements, the problem presents difficulties. The screens must be placed inside the room, and must, therefore be of better quality and appearance than is required for exterior screens.

Copper or pearl wire is usually chosen, and there are screens made especially for casements, so carefully perfected that there is only the slightest disturbance of the curtains in opening and closing the casements.

Curtains are not really necessary with casements that have good proportions and interesting design. Slightly gathered gauze may be used for glass curtains, fastened directly to the casement. For shades, the simplest method is to use side curtains which can be pulled across the pair of casements. A valance may also be used across the top.

Shutters Not Used. Shutters are not properly used with casements. In England, from which the use of casements emanates, the shutters are not used. From an architectural point of view also, shutters must very evidently be usable; and with a group of casements it would be impossible to cover the whole opening with the single shutter at each side.

Casements are designed narrower than double-hung windows, so that they will not be too heavy for their hinges. In order to obtain the effect desirable in window arrangement, casements are always used in pairs and more often in groups. Glass divided into small panes adds immeasurably to the architectural beauty of the casement. The use of colored glass and fancy designs in glazing are to be avoided. Rectangular panes about eight by ten inches, divided by wood muntins are most desirable, and the wood dividing bars should be painted white regardless of the color of the house.

WEATHER AGAIN LETS WORK AT MANOR PROCEED

Plastering Was Resumed Friday After Early Week Cold Snap.

Furnace Fire Kept Burning to Guard Against Sudden Changes.

An interlude of warmer weather was the Christmas present which old Santa had in his pack for the building of Stratford Manor. Lincoln's home beautiful, and plastering operations, halted by inclement conditions, were resumed Friday noon at the house. Working at top speed, the plasterers are trying to finish applying the first layer, or "brown coat" by Monday, so that a week for drying may be allowed, and the finishing stratum be added as early as possible.

A furnace fire is kept burning at the Manor all the time as a protection against the weather hazard, and to make plastering possible even during the passing of the old year. With the danger of freezing, and the uncertainty of weather conditions, Sunday work will probably be necessary on the house to complete plastering operations with the greatest possible speed.

House Soon Sealed Up. The application of the "brown coat" will seal up the house, formerly protected only by lathing. Plastering is the only process in the erection of the house where weather conditions can actually bring activity to a halt, and the lessening of the cold snap was a veritable bonanza.

Stratford Manor is really a house now, for the exterior brick work is practically completed, with only a small patch on the east end, and the final work on the gable which juts out at the end of the house.

yet to be finished. The casement windows have already been hung, with the proper hinges to support their weight whether closed or out in the wind. Hardware fixtures, a real problem in the use of outward opening casements, have been ordered, and are so arranged that the windows may be opened from inside, in spite of the screens, which must be placed within the glass.

Following closely upon the drying of the brown coat of plaster comes the application of the white coat, which can be applied within a week after the "brown coat" is completed. The woodwork is next placed, with door frames, moldings, baseboards, and window frames for interior. Laying of floors is among the steps farther along in the work, followed by the finishing of floors and woodwork, the hanging of electric light interior decorations, in accordance with the most recent tendencies toward beauty and comfort, and influenced, to a large degree, by the individual preference of the people who are to inhabit "Stratford Manor."

Miss Ruth K. Denison, who is commercial instructor in the high school at Dania, Florida, called at the college office Friday. Miss Denison graduated from the N. S. B. with her parents at Friend, Neb.

DECORATING NOT MYSTERIOUS ART

A. L. Guile Finds Average Woman Well Informed On Furniture and Drapery.

Importance of Principles of Good Taste in Household Is Now Realized.

The importance of interior decoration and the increasing general knowledge of the principles of good taste are emphasized by A. L. Guile of the Perkins-Huffman company as reasons for the growing beauty of American homes.

nowadays, the average woman who buys furniture, rugs or draperies is fairly well informed before she enters a store as to period styles. She is generally equipped to know the American colonial from Italian Renaissance; she realizes that Sheraton is not a place, nor Louis XV a cabinet maker. Most of the women's magazines have awakened an interest in how to furnish a better home," he says.

First impressions are most important. Mr. Guile thinks, and the first impression of the interior of any home is the glimpse which flashes to the eye of the guest when the front door opens. If that opening door reveals a hall, it is easy to comprehend that the correct furnishings of the hall is one of the most important steps in establishing the impression. This "welcome" effect does not need to be secured in an extravagant display of costly ivories, handwoven Gobelin tapestries, hand carved period furniture, or rugs of the King Tut period. Harmonious surroundings by the wise blending of colors, the

The living room of the modern home has still the tendency to be spacious. It affords a wonderful opportunity for adroit arrangement of furniture, and harmonizing of color in draperies and floor coverings. Refinement and good taste do not require a great outlay, and in the furnishing of Stratford Manor the principle of harmonization of furniture and coloring will be used with the minimum outlay of expense. A beautifully-arranged interior is a work of art, and cannot be regarded wholly from the commercial standpoint.

One period of furnishing is not necessary in choice of furniture, for several periods, not too radically different, may be charmingly combined. Each room in the "home beautiful" will be studied as an individual unit, and then the combination will be studied as a complete whole, deepening in mind first harmony rather than a lavish display of wealth, bordering on commercialism.

An important factor in furnishing a home is of course the individual tastes of the people who are to occupy it; and the coloring schemes of various houses are so arranged as to be most suitable for the people for whom the house is intended. Every woman has an inherent desire to look her best. Most of all, she wishes to look her best at home, where she receives her friends. Her satisfaction with her home is increased if, as its hostess, she can be the dominating figure at any function. She can achieve that result if the background of home furnishing and decoration is designed to bring out her best points and suppress her shortcomings. The woman who is interested in achieving an effective background will pay attention to the interior decoration of her home.

Most of them are up for drunkenness. "One rather important question which came up when I was in office was the liquor question. At that time it was considered legal for a club to serve liquor to its members if it was known that the club was not organized for that particular purpose. We had rather a hard time for some of them insisted that they were organized for entirely different purposes, but we know could have all of the liquor they wanted shipped in, and could not be brought to court for it.

"I didn't have speeders then, because there were not so many automobiles and those who had them were afraid to drive them very fast. "Jim Malone was city detective then, and he had a great store room where all kinds of liquor which had been seized was kept."

Bruce Fullerton was the next police judge on the list, and served for five years. "There was so much drunkenness then," said Mr. Fullerton, "that a man had to be arrested more than once or twice before he was even fined. We generally fined him and gave him ten days in jail.

"At holiday time, though, we had a general cleaning out. We tried to impress the prisoners that it was time to make a new and better beginning and urged them to tread gently and urged them to tread then on. Sometimes they paid some attention to it, but most of the time they didn't."

"It's a whole lot different now to what it was then. There is, for the most part, a different class of offenders. The majority of people who are brought to police court now are speeders and offenders of the parking ordinance in some way or other. There are some of the same old drunks, of course, and probably always will be, but not so many as we used to have."

After Judge Fullerton's administration Judge Whitmore served again, from 1917 until 1922, and then came E. B. Chappell, who served two years as police judge and was recently re-elected to serve as municipal judge for four years.

his way home. It happened on South Seventeenth street close to F street. "I remember another murder, too. A call came one day from Nineteenth and O streets, and I went down with the police. When we arrived we found that a negro had murdered a negro girl. He had become jealous of another man and had shot and killed her. It was awful. In the first place the building was not so good, and when I walked across the room I asked who had been pouring water on the carpet, it felt so soggy. Come to find out it was not water, but blood."

Judge George Risser followed Judge Cosgrave's unexpired term and was elected and then re-elected. "Drunkards kept Judge busy. During part of Judge Risser's administration, Lincoln was dry and Havelock was wet, which made things interesting. "Nothing particularly exciting happened while I was in office," Judge Risser said, "and watching the papers I see that some of the same old fellows come up before Judge Chappell that appeared be-

Part of this program was given at the Orthopedic hospital Christmas eve, under Madame de Vilmar's direction.

A new link in the chain of affiliated male chorus singing throughout the country was forged recently at Baltimore when seven glee clubs of that city and Washington formed a joint concert at the Lyric Theater. This program was given under the auspices of the Associated Glee Clubs of America, Inc., which is sponsoring the activities in the Baltimore-Washington district. The following clubs made up the chorus: Baltimore—Baltimore and Ohio Glee Club, Graceland Glee Club, Metropolitan Club and Meyerbeer Singing Society; Washington—Almas Chanters, Dayton Glee Club and Interstate Male Chorus.

The concert was a delight in a musical way and was highly appreciated by the audience which filled the Lyric. Of several numbers, notably "The Lord's Prayer," conducted by John P. Shaddick, and "The Shadow March," conducted by Hon. Clyde B. Atchison, one of the illustrious Commerce Commissioners, were most demanded. In fact, the audience were noted several distinguished members of the official circles of Washington, including Frederick H. Gillett, Speaker of the House.

Clayton W. Old, the president of the Associated Glee Clubs, spoke briefly on the aims and progress of the organization which he represents, opening his remarks with the following:

"Men of the glee clubs of Washington and Baltimore, I bring you the greetings of the glee clubs of New York and the nearby cities, who, at a recent meeting of their appointed representatives, received with long and loud applause the news of this splendid beginning of your activities."

"Do you realize the significance of this message? The glee clubs of New York send greetings to the glee clubs of Washington and Baltimore. Why that's something new. The clubs of Birmingham, England have for generations been sending greetings to those of Sheffield, and those of Hartford in Wales to those of Pontypridd and those of Frankfurt to those of Nurnberg—but for the first time in history I now broadcast in America, the land of unlimited possibilities in music and art, the friendly and jovial greetings of one group of cities to those of another. We believe that this moment is one of historic importance. We believe that the time is not far distant when, at the tri-annual meeting of this association in New York, the assembled chorus of 10,000 voices, made up of the glee clubs of all the eastern states will send their message."

"The instrumental talent might very well be turned into a profitable and useful direction by the establishment of a national training school for players of band instruments. With such a man as Sousa at its head—and I think he would be very willing to assume this responsibility—we might have an excellent center at Washington, with various branches. We must develop conductors, because they are essential, and a school is the only place to do that. Then, too, we must have a standardized orchestration for our bands and we should have good music written for them. With this sort of school for band instruments working well as a basis, we might then proceed to develop a national conservatory of music."

No matter what the librarian of congress may feel about jazz music, he recognizes the fact that it is characteristic of the times and that fifty years hence, when we may have gone back to the Virginia reel and the Blue Danube waltz, the generations then will be curious to hear and wonder at—probably—the barbaric strains to which the youngsters of 1924 shook their shoulders and tapped their feet, remarks a Washington correspondent to the New York Evening Post.

So Librarian Putnam in his annual report to congress records, along with acknowledgment of original Wagner, Bach, Mozart and MacDowell manuscripts, and the gift of orchestra scores of several pieces of "classical" jazz. Hugo Rosenfeld, manager of several New York City motion picture houses, was the donor. Not to be thought too radical in taste, Mr. Putnam included the following paragraph of explanation:

"These unpublished manuscript arrangements of popular 'hits' are the first full scores of the species. In its tamer but none the less curious form, which it was possible to obtain for the benefit of a puzzled historian some hundred years since."

And now she's so slender!"

"Did you ever see such a change in any one? Grace used to be positively plump. Now she's one of the smartest dressed women I know. She must have done something to regain her youthful figure."

She did do something. Realizing that her success and charm depended upon a slender silhouette, she used Marmola Tablets.

Marmola Tablets are the pleasant way to reduce. Without diet or exercise, you can regain your slender healthy figure again.

Thousands of men and women each year regain slender figures this way. So can you.

Marmola Tablets are one dollar a box. Sent by mail on receipt of payment from Marmola Co., 1709 Grand Boulevard, Detroit, Mich. Try them.

Answers to Movie Fans

Dear Movie Editor: Although I have always been very much interested in the movies, I have never written to you before, mostly because I thought you were not a real person, but just somebody that lived away in Chicago or some other place and just had imaginary questions and answers. My friend wrote to you, however, and had her letter published in the paper, so I thought I would try my luck. I am most interested in knowing whether or not Richard Talmadge is a brother to Constance and Norma Talmadge. What is his next picture?

What color hair and eyes has Donald Crisp? What nationality is he?

Who plays opposite Charles Ray in "The Desert Fiddler"? How old is Charles? Is he married or single and what color hair and eyes has he?

What is Gloria Swanson's next picture and who will play opposite her?

What is Richard Barthelmess' most recent picture and who is his leading lady? And by the way, how old is Richard and where was he born? I think he is just wonderful, so boyish and unaffected. His pictures are always so clean, too. I wish he would play with Lillian Gish in a picture again some time.

What is Pola Negri's picture following "Forbidden Paradise"? And who will play opposite her?

Well, I am afraid you will be wishing I had kept right on thinking you were not real if I don't bring this to a close. So long.

LETTY.

I'm glad that you have discovered that I am real and not an illusion. I always like to have new correspondents in my department.

Richard is not related to the Talmadge girls in anyway whatsoever, except screen name. He is working on "Hail the Hero".

Mr. Crisp has dark hair and eyes. He is of Scotch-English descent.

Barbara Bedford is leaving the care of her young daughter to a nurse long enough to play opposite

Charles in "The Desert Fiddler." Charles is married and thirty-three years old. He has brown hair and eyes.

Gloria Swanson recently completed "Madame Sans Gêne" with Charles de Roccas as her leading man. He is the only American in the cast who is known to American audiences. The rest are all French players. Of course, Charles is French, but he has made pictures in America.

Richard Barthelmess has completed "New Toys" with his wife, Mary Hay, as his leading lady. You will remember Mary from "Way Down East." Richard was born in New York City in 1895.

Pola Negri is making "East of Suez" with Edmund Lowe as her leading man.

Dear Movie Editor: Well, I'm back again with more questions for you to answer. I told you if you treated me kindly last time, and did not throw my letter in the waste basket, that I would be pestering you again. I was very much pleased to see it in the paper and you answered every question. I asked you, so I just can't stay away any longer, when I'm bubbling over to ask more.

Please tell me what the letters F. B. O. stand for. I see them frequently in the movie columns.

How many Moore boys are there besides Owen and Tom? Are they related to Colleen? Are they all married and if so to whom?

How old is Mary Pickford? How old is Doug? Wasn't Mary married to one of the Moore boys at one time? Doesn't she have a little girl named Mary, of whom he is the father? Is it true that Mary has had her hair bobbed?

How old are Viola Dana and Shirley Mason? They are both widows, are they not? What was the name of their husbands?

Have either Marion Davies or Lillian Gish ever been married?

Is Ramon Novarro married and if so to whom? Also Alleen Pringle? How old is Ramon and where was he born? What picture is he making at this time? Did he play opposite Lillian Gish in "The White Sister"?

Who is the girl who is called "The Swedish Mary Pickford"? I have heard her name, but don't remember it. It was a Swedish name, I know.

Hoping I have not stayed too long today, and put you to too much trouble to answer my questions, I close.

Don't worry about bothering me with your questions. If you had gone to ask, there would be no excuse for my being here.

The letters F. B. O. stand for Film Booking Offices of America.

There are four Moore brothers. Owen, Tom, Matt and Joe. They have all been married, except Matt, and he is flirting with the idea at present. Owen was Mary's first husband, but they had no children. The little girl, Mary Pickford, is Mary's little niece. Lottie Pickford's daughter, whom Mary adopted. Owen's second wife is Katherine Perry.

Tom Moore was married to Alice Joyce at one time. He is now separated from his second choice, Renee Adoree. Joe married Grace Cunard. The boys are not related to Colleen. Colleen's family name was Morrison.

Mary Pickford is thirty-one. Her hair is not bobbed because Doug will not permit it, and because the Mary Pickford curls are sacred to thousands of fans, as well as to their owner. Mr. Fairbanks is ten years Mary's senior.

Viola Dana is twenty-six and Shirley is three years younger. Viola's husband was John Collins and Shirley's was Bernard Durning. Yes, the girls are both widows.

Marion and Lillian are both single and have always been. Ramon is not yet married. He was born in Durango, Mexico, twenty-five years ago. At present, he is in Europe working in "Ben Hur." He did not play in "The White Sister." Lillian's leading man in that picture was Ronald Colman. Miss Pringle is Mrs. Pringle in private.

Sigrid Holmquist is called "The Swedish Mary Pickford."

Dear Movie Editor: Please give me the cast for "Her Marriage Vow" and "The City That Never Sleeps." Has "The Story Without a Name" been released yet? What name was it released under? Please give me the cast for it, also? With many thanks.

A MOVIE FAN.

The cast for "Her Marriage Vow" is: Robert Hilton, Monte Blue; Arthur Albertson; Willard Louis; Carol Belham and Carol Hilton; Beverly Bayne; Estelle Winslow; Margaret Livingston; Ted Love; John Roche; Barbara; Priscilla Moran; Janey; Mary Graham; Mrs. Pelham; Martha Pettie; The Spinster; Allen Manning; Winslow Arthur Hoyt.

"The City That Never Sleeps" cast is: Mother O'Day, Louise Dresser; Mark Roth, Ricardo Cortez; Mrs. Kendall, Kathryn Williams; Molly Kendall, Virginia Lee Corbin; Cliff Kelly, Pierre Gendron; Mike, James Farley; Tim O'Day, Ben Hendricks; Baby Molly, Vondell Darr.

"The Story Without a Name" was released and exhibited under that title. The cast is Mary Walsworth, Agnes Ayres, Alvin Holt, Antonio Moreno; Drakma, Tyrone Power; Kurder, Louis Wolheim; Claire, Dagmar Godovsky; Don Powell, Jack Bohn; The Cripple, Maurice Costello.

Dear Movie Editor: This is the first time I have ever written to you and I hope you will publish my letter as soon as possible. Please tell me what has become of Elliott Dexter. I don't see him playing in movies anymore. The last time I saw him he carried a cane and limped—I heard he was lame from rheumatism or an accident or something. Did he ever recover from it? Some said that he was not lame at all, but merely used the cane to get the sympathy of the audience. Was that so? What color hair and eyes does he have? What is his address? Is he married, and if so, isn't Marie Dore his wife? I am under the impression that she is.

What is Strongheart's next picture and who are the people who will play with him in it? Who owns Strongheart?

What is the title of Harold Lloyd's latest picture.

Who played opposite Constance Talmadge in "A Virtuous Vamp"? Who played opposite Norma in "The Safety Curtain"?

What is getting late and I must go to bed, so I will sign.

GOODNIGHT.

Elliott Dexter is touring in vaudeville just at present, but he has not entirely deserted the movies. He has an important role in William De Mille's "The Fast Set." He has entirely recovered from his lameness and is able to walk without a cane now. Mr. Dexter used the cane because of his lameness, and because it is a handicap to him in his career. He has dark hair and eyes and may be reached in care of the Lasky Studio, Hollywood, Calif. He has his second wife, Marie Dore, as his first, and they were separated several years before he remarried.

Strongheart's latest release is "White Fang," a Jack London story. The members of his cast are: Matthew Betz and Theodore Perry. Mrs. Jane Murnin is the owner of Strongheart.

Conway Tearle was Connie's leading man in "A Virtuous Vamp." Eugene O'Brien played with Norma in "The Safety Curtain."

Dear Movie Editor: I saw Lillian Gish in "The White Sister" not so long ago and I began thinking about her long career and her growing popularity, and I wondered what was the cause of it. In thinking it over, I decided it was because she was herself, charming and her picture was always the kind that they don't have to be afraid to take anybody to see for fear of offending their sensibilities. They are always clean and above criticism. Lillian is one of the greatest artists of the screen today, and I hope she continues to climb to even higher heights than she has yet reached. I don't see why we can't have more pictures like those of Lillian Gish. I think the producers would find that it would pay in the long run. I know the producers say they are compelled to make the sort of pictures the exhibitors will buy, and that the exhibitors show only what the public demands, but why can't the public be educated to want more clean pictures with a moral in them. I think they could be, if they knew they couldn't get the other kind. There seems to be something in every human being though that craves excitement, bloodshed and sex appeal, so I suppose until we get that out of our systems, the all get that sort of thing. The finer things of life, will have to be content with the "bunkum" we are now getting in order to satisfy the tastes of the majority.

I am glad to see that "Peter Pan" is to be filmed. I always did like that story of Barrie's.

Just a little comment and I will retire and let somebody else claim your august attention. I want to send up a plea with those who have already gone before me, to the picture going public to quit talking in a picture show. I was at a theater recently when a couple of women sat back of me, and when they were not commenting upon the lives of the players, or the clothes of their friends, or the latest gossip in the neighborhood, they were telling everybody within hearing distance just what was coming next in the picture. I may be a crank, alright, but when I get a show I don't want to have to listen to a lot of chatter around me. "Silence is Golden" at least in a motion picture theater, and if the fact was flashed on the screen occasionally, it might finally soak in to those who do their visiting in the theater instead of at home. Thank you, CRITIC.

Dear Movie Editor: I saw "Captain Blood" and thought it a marvelous picture. I wonder if you could tell me the names of some of the other Sabatini stories that have been filmed, and who the stars were that played in them? Please give me the cast for "Captain Blood." Is Jack Gilbert married and if so to whom? How old is he? What is his address?

Betty Blythe is quite a Junoesque sort of a person. How tall is she? What color are her hair and eyes and how old is she?

Are Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor married yet? Did Charles Chaplin ever marry Pola Negri? I never heard definitely whether he is married or not. Was his wife Marion Harris or Mildred Davis?

I will be very grateful to you if you will run this in your page next Sunday as I am going away for the holidays and don't want to miss seeing it. If you can't, however, I'll have my family save all of the papers for me, because I know you don't always get the letters in time to run them just when we expect to see them. I'll watch for it until it appears. With kindest wishes for a Merry Christmas to you, I remain,

AN OLD FAN.

Thank you for the kind wishes. "Scaramouche" and "The Sea Hawk" are the only other pictures that I are the only other pictures that I recall were adopted from Sabatini. Novarro had the leading roles in the former and Milton Sill and Enid Bennett in "The Sea Hawk." The hair and eyes of the stars that I cast for "Captain Blood" is: Captain Blood, John Barrymore; Captain Trill, Charlotte Merriman; Jeremy Pitt, James Morrison; Lord Julian Wake, Allan Forrest; Don Diego, Bertram Grassby; Captain Trill, Harlan; Wolverstone, Jack Curtis; Colonel Bishop, Wilfred North; Captain Robert, Henry Hebert; Baynes, Tom McQuire; Lord Jeffreys, Otto Matiesen; Admiral Van Der Kuylen, Robert Bolder.

Jack Gilbert is the erstwhile husband of Leatrice Joy. He is twenty-nine years old. Address him in care of Metro-Goldwyn Mayer studio, Culver City, Calif.

Betty Blythe is five feet seven inches tall. She is thirty-one and has dark hair and blue eyes.

Jack Dempsey and Estelle are still non-committal on the subject of matrimony. Charlie did not marry Pola, but he is married to Lita Grey, his latest leading lady. Mildred Harris was wife No. 1.

Screen Siftings

Gladys Hulette Returns—Gladys Hulette, who has been sojourning in New York for sometime, is returning to Hollywood soon to play the feminine lead in Renaud Hoffman's "On the Threshold."

Jackie's Kid Brother Promising—Jackie Coogan says his new baby brother that arrived recently is going to look exactly like Charlie Chaplin when he grows up. The baby has dark hair and eyes. Jackie has decided to call him Robert Anthony, or "Bobby" for short.

Leatrice Changes Her Mind—Leatrice Joy announced when Leatrice, Jr., arrived that she was going to retire from the screen and devote the rest of her life to the rearing of her young daughter. Leatrice, however, has exercised her woman's privilege of changing her mind, and will return to the screen the first of the year in a new Paramount picture, "The Dressmaker from Paris."

Carl Miller an Artist—Carl Miller, who plays the role of Paul Dubois, a young sculptor, in "The Redemptive Sin," the Blackton production in which Mme. Alla Nazimova makes her debut as a Vitagraph star, is also a sculptor in real life between screen appearances. Mr. Miller played a struggling young artist in "A Woman of Paris," and he had the role of Jackie Coogan's father in "The Kid."

Griffith Has Masterpiece—D. W. Griffith's latest effort, "Isn't Life Wonderful?" is said to exceed anything he has done heretofore. It is a story of real life, without much plot, and without a lot of expensive sets. Carol Dempster and Neil Hamilton are the featured players. The picture was filmed in Europe.

Three Stars Stay Together—Jack Holt, Lois Wilson and Noah Beery

have been cast in the same picture for the second time in the last three months. They recently completed, "North of 36," and are now working on Zane Grey's "The Thundering Herd," which William K. Howard is directing for Paramount.

Blonde Beauty Wears Black Wig—Frances Howard, who has just completed her work in "The Swan," for the Paramount, has been selected to play the leading role of opposite Richard Dix in his latest starring picture, "The Maker of Gestures," which Paul Sloane will direct. Miss Howard will have the role of a young Basque girl, and for the part will wear a raven-black wig.

Blanche Sweet Starred—Blanche Sweet and Ronald Colman have been chosen for the leading roles in George Fitzmaurice's forthcoming production, adapted from May Edington's novel, "World Without End."

Helen Dunbar Loaned—Helen Dunbar has been loaned to Universal by Lasky for a supporting role with Virginia Valli and Eugene O'Brien in "Siege."

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Women Who Are Trying To Combine Professions With Wifehood Should Strive Not To Bungle the Job For Their Own Sakes and That of Other Women—Minerva's Opinion Is Asked of George Norris "Bread"—A Man Gives a Thoughtful Letter on Marriage and Divorce—The Well-Groomed Woman Is Analyzed.

A Clever Analysis.
Dear Minerva: I am a married woman and have just finished reading "Bread" by George Norris and would like to know if you think the sentiment and reasoning in that novel quite fair to the business woman. I know you are a married woman with a family and that you too have your profession and I'd appreciate your personal views of the book very much.—TVA
A Well, Iva, my impressions of the book are many. But my most outstanding emotion was that we women who treasure both our professions and our wifehood will have to be very, very careful that we do not bungle things, careful for our own sakes and for the sakes of many other women.
It is pointed out by "Lillian" in the book that the book's final conclusion is that women should not concentrate as of old on matrimony—for the sake of the homes and the nation.
Well, of course, I don't agree with that. I strongly approve of every girl having a profession. Nor do I agree that business life antagonizes women against matrimony. That is not my experience among my many business women friends.
And there is one thing men can be assured of, when the business woman marries him, it is not for a home, not for luxuries and comforts, but because she truly loves him and wants to make a home for him. His chances of happiness should be twice as great.
Of course the woman who tries to do both has to be pretty spry and capable, also tactful and big minded. But it often works out very well at that.
The book "Bread" is a diabolically clever analysis of the feminine reactions on the subject. You see, it is a very new thing, this conflict between love and business independence for women. We are passing through the transition stage, says:

feminine revolt against marital financial dependence and it is fair in showing that the woman's motives are not entirely selfish.
This yearning for a business life often begins with a desire to help out the family, not to be a burden on our parents during their struggle to raise the family decently. Of course, more pleasant provisions for ourselves, clothing, and spending money, does enhance the life a bit.
And also after a few years of financial independence it is hard to marry and be entirely dependent upon a husband. One has to be so tremendously and perpetually in love to stand it with grace, particularly if he isn't a very prosperous husband.
It makes a good deal of difference how the husband feels about it. Some men are modern enough to be sympathetic and even proud of their wife's accomplishments. Others bitterly resent them.
I think the weak point in "Bread" is that Jeanette, the heroine, just walked out on her husband in order to go back to work and become mistress of her own purse. In real life I think she would have won him over through persuasion, or at least tried to do so.
Dignity of Marriage.
The writer of the following letter has given serious thought to the problems of marriage and divorce and his ideas are of weight and interest.
Dear Minerva: The first account of a marriage is found in the latter portion of chapter 2 of Genesis. After telling of the marriage, the book says: "Therefore shall a man leave his father and mother and shall cleave unto his wife and they shall be one flesh."
It was a dignified proceeding, this first marriage, and it would seem that it should continue to be. It was not founded on "love," as modern marriages are supposed to be, but these were the only two human beings on earth. Love has grown into its present existence since then.
In a former communication the writer spoke of two couples coming from Omaha to Lincoln together, going to the courthouse, each couple securing divorces in double quick time, then going to the office of the county judge, trading spouses and being married—all in less than an hour and a half. (This happened a number of years ago—it could not happen now.)
That, surely was not a dignified proceeding.
As to love: That quaint old English poet, Martin Farquhar Tupper, says:

"It is a fragrant blossom that maketh glad the garden of the heart;
It lieth deep; it is delicate, yet lasting as the lilac crocus of autumn;
They that love early become like minded, and the temper toucheth them not.
They grow up leaning on each other as the olive and the vine.
That could not have been the condition under which those two couples grew up.
The poet concludes his discourse on love and marriage with this suggestion:
"If ye will be happy in marriage, confide, love, and be patient; be faithful, firm and holy."
That would suggest a dignity in marriage that should be sought by all.
Some years ago the writer was being shaved in a shop on North Sixteenth street, Omaha. When his face had been well lathered, two ladies entered the shop—not to have their hair bobbed, because that was not at that time been sprung on an unsuspecting public—but for a visit with the barber, he went to them, without as much as excusing himself from me, and the trio spent some ten minutes in boisterous conversation and loud laughter. When they departed he returned to me.
In the meantime the barber on my face had dried and had to be re-lathered.
In renewing it he said:
"I don't suppose that you can understand that. One of those ladies was my former wife from whom I had been divorced recently; the other was the woman to whom I am to be married in two weeks. My former wife is to be married again tomorrow, and they were inviting me to attend the marriage."
I told him that of course I could not understand such proceedings.
Of course neither of those coming as there was no chance of courting as there were the only two human beings on earth. Love has grown into its present existence since then.
In a former communication the writer spoke of two couples coming from Omaha to Lincoln together, going to the courthouse, each couple securing divorces in double quick time, then going to the office of the county judge, trading spouses and being married—all in less than an hour and a half. (This happened a number of years ago—it could not happen now.)
That, surely was not a dignified proceeding.
As to love: That quaint old English poet, Martin Farquhar Tupper, says:

Well-Groomed Women.
Dear Minerva: What is it that makes a woman appear well-groomed and perfectly dressed? I pay good money for my clothes and yet I never look stylish and just as many other women do. I often wonder what the trouble is.—MILLIE
A. Perhaps you do look as trim and modish as your neighbors but do not appreciate your own good qualities.
But perhaps you do not. You know it is the utmost care in the smallest detail that makes a woman look well groomed, a perfect whole to which each smallest item contributes its part.
A woman may have beautiful clothes, but one inconspicuous note will spoil the effect. For instance, the clever sports outfit may be entirely ruined by the wearing of high heeled pumps when heavy brogans would be suitable. Or a lovely afternoon dress, beaded and embroidered in luscious colors, and satin shoes and gossamer stockings and a dream of a large hat, all spoiled in effect with a heavy sports coat that should be worn for sports alone. Or a trim, smart tailored suit worn with a floppy garden.
The ensemble must be smart and in keeping all through in order to present the desired well-groomed effect.
Cecil's Fine Boosted — Lillian Rich, the newest Cecil B. DeMille, "Find" who recently completed work in "The Golden Bed," has gone to New York, where she will have the leading role opposite Adolphe Menjou in "A Kiss in the Dark." The picture is a screen adaptation of "Arcturion" by Frederick Lonsdale, in which Cyril Maude made one of the biggest hits of his career. Frank Tuttle will direct the screen production.

PIMPLES

How to get rid of them.

WHY ENVY a clear, lovable complexion? Why wish and hope? It is within your reach! There is always one quick and sure way to make your complexion free from all eruptions, pimples, blackheads, bolls, and that impossible muddiness. That is by building up your red-blood-cells. S.S.S. will do it for you! Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it cleanses the system and makes those so-called skin disorders impossible to exist. S.S.S. contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. It is also a remarkable builder of firm flesh, which is also important to beauty. It will fill out your hollow cheeks, put the "rubi" of health in your cheeks and the sparkle in your eyes. Since 1924 S.S.S. has been beautifying complexions and giving women physical charm. This is why S.S.S. is accepted as the greatest of all blood cleansers and body builders. Begin taking S.S.S. today and give yourself what you have been looking for, for years.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

PHIPPS-GEORGE

Preceding the annual Christmas morning breakfast held at 6:30 o'clock Thursday at the B. F. Bailey sanitarium, a wedding of unusual interest took place when Miss Stella Phipps, who was graduated from the sanitarium in 1920, became the bride of Jesse George of Lincoln. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreen in the center of the hall, and a Christmas bell hung from the evergreen arch.

The wedding came as a complete surprise to the guests at the breakfast when the bride and groom appeared in just after the singing of "Joy to the World." Rev. Earl Rapp, a room mate of the groom during their college years at Nebraska Wesleyan, read the marriage lines.

Miss Anna Berk, who was graduated from the sanitarium with the bride, was the only attendant, and Leo Kramer of Chester was best man. The bride's gown was of brown silk crepe trimmed with brown fur, and she wore a string of pearls.

Christmas holly and place cards were used in carrying out the holiday color scheme of red and green in the appointments at the breakfast which followed the reading of the marriage lines. The guests were seated at one large table in the form of a hollow square, with the bride and groom seated at the center. Eighty people were present, including doctors, nurses at the sanitarium, and graduates representing ten different years.

Mr. and Mrs. George will be at home after January 1 at 1226 E street.

WATERS-CHAMPE

A simply arranged holiday wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Waters, 2045 South Twentieth street, when their daughter, Flavia, became the bride of John Leland Champe, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Champe. Only the members of the family and a very few intimate friends were present for the ceremony which was performed by Rev. C. H. Rogers of Stella, formerly pastor of Plymouth Congregational church of Lincoln.

A green, white and silver color motif in trees, chrysanthemums and silver candelabra holding white tapers made a charming setting for the wedding. A silver trimmed Christmas tree stood at either side of the fireplace in the living room where the marriage lines were read while the mantel above held two smaller trees, also silver trimmed and a silver candelabrum with white tapers.

The bride was gowned in beige brocade chiffon with brown fur and she wore a corsage of Ophelia roses.

An informal reception followed the ceremony during which Mrs. J. S. Ewart was in charge of the dining room and was assisted in serving by Misses Maurine and Marjorie Champe, Maxine Ziemer, Evelyn Wilson and Lucile Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Champe left for a short wedding trip and after their return will be at home in the Lafayette apartments.

ZIEMER-IVERSON

Among the very simple of holiday weddings will be that of Miss Maxine Ziemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Ziemer, 2525 Summer street, and Joe Iverson, which will take place at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, January 1, at the home of the bride.

The marriage lines will be read by Rev. S. M. Morrow of the United Presbyterian church in the presence of only the two immediate families. There will be no attendants and no music.

The bride has chosen for a wedding gown an afternoon frock of russet crepe satin with oriental bandings. She will wear a hat to match, and a corsage.

Immediately following the service the young couple will leave for Houston, Tex., where they will make their home.

Mr. Iverson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Iverson of Lincoln. He attended the University of Nebraska and is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

HALE-RUSSEL

A wedding of interest took place Christmas night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hale, at Hardy, Neb., when their daughter Ethel Marie was married to Robert R. Russel, of Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Charles Griffin of Webster, Kas., sang "Homing" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. E. C. Mortenson played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

Little Bernita Hale, a niece of the bride, acted as flower girl. She wore a dress of orchid organdie and carried a basket of opheelia roses.

The bride wore a gown of yellow and orange chiffon, beaded with crystal beads, over silver em-

Married In Omaha

Mrs. Dale Carpenter was formerly Miss Loretta Ruth Bowman, and her marriage which took place in Omaha June 18, 1923, was not announced until the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter are making their home in the Lincolnale apartment here.

broided satin. She carried an arm bouquet of opheelia roses.

Out of town guests were: Miss Cleo Hale, of Omaha, J. C. Russel of Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffin of Webster, Kas.

The bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Richmond, Va., and Washington, D. C. They will make their home in Kalamazoo, where both are members of the faculty of the Western State Normal school.

Miss Hale is a graduate of Peru State normal, and received her master's degree in education the past year from the University of Iowa. Dr. Russel holds a master's degree from the University of Kansas and a Ph.D. from the University of Illinois. He is a member of the American history at both schools.

Parties a Week

The Misses Opal and Eleanor Crone were hostesses at a delightful Christmas breakfast at their home in Friend Tuesday morning. The centerpiece at the table was a brick chimney, with a miniature Santa Claus. Tiny boxes of Christmas bon bons, the individual favors, were concealed within the chimney. The toast list at the close of the breakfast follows:

Poinsettia, Wilfred Proudfoot.

Home From School, Younger Set In a Whirl of Gaiety

A whirl of gaiety is the holiday season for the younger set, and those of the Lincoln people who have returned from their months of study at school are welcomed joyously by the others who are finishing their training here. Bridge teas, luncheons, dinners, and dances are on the card for the coming week and the past one in the ever-widening circles of the younger set.

Miss Margaret Ames was hostess Saturday evening at an informal dancing party at her home for twenty couples, honoring Miss Anne Titus of Holdrege, and Miss Madeleine Weyer of Denver, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Weyer recently left Lincoln for the Colorado city.

Miss Catherine Clapp and her mother, Mrs. R. G. Clapp, were hostesses at a bridge luncheon Saturday, honoring Miss Dorothy Leland, who is spending her vacation here with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Dean R. Leland. Miss Ruth Willard of Omaha and Miss Marie McLucas of Fairbury, house guests at the Clapp home, were out of town guests. Christmas decorations were used at the luncheon tables, and six tables for bridge occupied the afternoon.

For next week, the round of parties is a strenuous one, with at least one affair each day to permit reunions of friends separated at school. The close of the week sees the return to studies and the departure of those who attend school away from home.

Miss Elizabeth Elmen is entertaining Monday afternoon at a bridge tea at her home, 1427 South Twenty-first street, for Miss Leland and Miss Weyer. Twenty guests will be present, and the afternoon will be spent at cards.

Miss Dorothy Conant of Chicago, who is the house guest of Miss Mary Prouty at her home, 1744 South Twenty-fifth street, will be present, and the afternoon will be given by Miss Prouty at the University club Monday evening. Twenty couples will attend the party.

Miss Susan Lau will be hostess Tuesday at a luncheon at her home, 1818 South Twenty-fourth street, in honor of Miss Weyer and Miss Conant. The afternoon will be spent informally.

Miss Leland will entertain informally Wednesday afternoon at her home, 1815 South Twenty-first street, when the members of the school set will be guests.

An informal dancing party, for which the guest list includes twenty couples, will be given Thursday evening by Miss Ames at her home, 1750 South Twentieth street.

Miss Titus and Miss Weyer are honor guests at a bridge luncheon Friday at the Country club, for which Miss Helen Cochrane is hostess. Thirty-five guests will be present.

Serenaders To Play In Paris And In London

Another Nebraska orchestra is going abroad with its saxophones and its banjo to charm the Britishers and the French with the music of America. That American "jazz" is still the rage in Europe is the contention and The Serenaders, well known in university circles, have already engaged passage for Europe, to play in Paris and London during the summer months.

The "Mauretania," a Cunard liner, will carry the nine musicians over and they leave New York on June 24. They expect to return September 5 on the "Berengaria," taking both journeys on Cunard student expeditions. The "Mauretania" lands at Cherbourg, France, going on around to the English island.

Emil ("Speed") Frost is pianist for the Serenaders; Louis Frost, Kenneth Nelson and Howard Jenkins, saxophones; Marvin Styer, drums; Donald Fairchild, banjo; Clyde Davis, violin; Howard Drake, trumpet and Ted Cowell, trombone.

Many "Watch Parties" Planned

and Mrs. Richard Stout, Dr. and Mrs. Everett Angle and Dr. and Mrs. George Covey.

Prof. and Mrs. Paul H. Grummman will entertain at a small party; and Edward Buck has made a reservation for foursome, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Horne have a reservation for six persons.

Forty-Niners at Lincoln. The Forty-Niners will have their New Year's eve dinner dance in the ball room of the Lincoln hotel which will be attractively decorated for that evening. The members of the committee in charge are Dr. Paul Ludwick, Walt White, Herman Jobst, William Hiller, Don Pegler, Don Pettis and Walton Roberts.

Country club members will have the opportunity of gathering at the club on Wednesday evening for dinner and remaining to dance the old year out and the new year in. Reservations have been slow coming in but the usual holiday crowd has been planned for.

ANDERSON-BLANCHARD

The marriage of Miss Anna Geraldine Anderson of Lincoln, to Clarence H. Blanchard of Clay Center took place Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ella Blanchard of Clay Center. The wedding was a quiet home affair, with only members of the immediate families as guests. The bride's mother of Calumet and Mrs. F. R. Springer of Lincoln were the only out of town guests.

Baskets of pink and white roses were used in decoration in the house, and the Rev. Mr. Lewis of the Congregational church read the marriage vows. The bride was gowned in white satin, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses. An informal reception followed the ceremony.

The bride and groom will make their home in Chicago, where Mr. Blanchard is employed by the General Electric company.

ALTRUSA CLUB HOLDS MEETING AT WOODBURN.

The members of the Altrusa club met at the Woodburn last Monday evening for dinner, which was followed by a business meeting. The business session was devoted principally to discussing local activities in line with the national policy of vocational guidance. A definite project in which other groups may cooperate is to be worked out and presented at the next business meeting. A program meeting is to be held the evening of January 12, with H. O. Ferguson as speaker.

P. E. O. CHAPTER GIVES XMAS PARTY FOR KIDDIES.

Chapter CS, P. E. O. entertained a group of children at a Christmas party Saturday afternoon at the Grand hotel, following a 1 o'clock luncheon. Mrs. C. W. Hudson and Miss Marie Kennedy had charge of the arrangements which included a beautifully trimmed and lighted tree. There were bags of candies, nuts and fruit, and also toys for each child. A program of songs and recitations was furnished by the children. Refreshments were served to the children late in the afternoon.

BETA DELPHIAN CHAPTER CHANGES JANUARY DATES.

Camp Fire Notes

The camp fire hiking cabin is nearing completion and a meeting of the President's club last week it was decided to name it "Wakiwi," the Indian word for "The Lodge." This name and the symbol for it will be engraved on a marble slab which will be part of the fireplace.

More than 125 camp fire girls and guardians attended the Christmas candle lighting service at the First Presbyterian church last Sunday afternoon, and a large number of parents and interested friends also enjoyed the service. Some last minute changes in the candle lighting maidens were made so that Bonnetta Jenkins lit the light of health, Rachel Branson, Hold on to Health, Barbara Hall, "Glorify Work" and Anna Gray, "Be Happy."

The camp fire girls made and filled 225 tarlatan stockings for the Christmas trees of the children at the Home for Dependent Children, Orthopedic hospital and Detention home, under the auspices of the Junior league. They also took care of providing Christmas dinners, clothing and presents, for twelve families for the Christmas service about twenty individual groups provided dinners and toys for needy families, three groups made flannel night gowns for the children at Tabitha Home, the Home for Dependent Children and the American Legion. Layette department: one group provided entertainment for the children's party at the Masonic temple, and many groups brought Christmas cheer by singing carols Christmas eve or early Christmas morning.

The first aid class which meets every Saturday at 1 o'clock with Dr. Gene Beery at the camp fire office made out of cocoa cans enameled white.

The Reporters' club will meet at the office Saturday, January 3, to put out the new year's number of "The Fagots." This issue will also celebrate the first birthday anniversary of "The Fagots."

For the past two meetings Tinega Camp Fire has been working on presents for a surprise to a poor family. A committee was appointed to take the gifts to the family the day before Christmas.

Klugan Camp Fire met at the home of their guardian, Betty Miller, December 21 to plan a dinner for a poor family and practice Christmas carols.

Thursday, December 18, Hildonne Camp Fire girls met at the camp fire office to make tarlatan stockings for the Junior league. Monday they met at the home of their guardian, Mrs. Fay Beltzer, to make plans for the coming Christmas activities. They decided where they would sing carols and planned entertainment for the children's party at the Masonic temple. After the business meeting Mrs. Beltzer passed out slips of paper telling each girl where she might hunt for a Christmas present and after much searching each girl found hers. The gifts which the girls had brought were put on the floor and each girl was given a fish hook on a pole to fish for her present with. Refreshments and dancing closed the meeting.

Elita Camp Fire met at the camp fire office Saturday, December 20, to practice carols and plan a Christmas dinner for a poor family. Sun-

HAS BIRTHDAY

Gae Flala, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. J. J. Flala, celebrated her seventh birthday Saturday, December 20, and in honor of the occasion entertained nine of her little friends at a birthday party. Mrs. Flala and three children, Gae, Jeanne and Richard, are in Lincoln for the winter but at the close of the school year will return to Tecumseh which is their home. Gae is attending the G. L. A. to B. of L. E. and their husbands. A social hour occupied the evening when Mr. Rolfmeyer acted as Santa Claus and distributed the gifts. Christmas streamers and tinsel and a large Christmas tree formed the decorations.

Social people present: Mrs. Rolfmeyer served a two-course luncheon at the close of the evening.

Electa chapter, No. 8, O. E. S., gave a Christmas party for members and their families at the Masonic temple, 234 South Eleventh street, last Monday evening. Miss Emma Hathaway, worthy matron, presided, and Fred Ihinger, worthy patron, read radio messages from Santa Claus at intervals during the evening.

"Joy to the World" was sung, with the Electa quartet composed of Mrs. Jessie Andrews, Mrs. Louise Mitchell, Mrs. Gertrude Boyles and Mrs. Augusta Baer, leading; and a dance, the "Purple and Gold Frolic" was given by Frankie Hunter, Margaret Hunter, and Bonnie Scott, with Hope Howell, as accompanist. The Electa quartet sang "Silent Night"; and Zella Owens gave a musical reading, "The Night Before Christmas," with Genevieve Wilson as accompanist. Margaret Hunter gave "The Thin Santa Claus" as a reading. Mrs. Ada C. Malcolm of the University School of Music presented the program in the above numbers. Madeline Brown gave a Santa Claus dance in costume.

A decorated Christmas tree stood in one corner, and Herbert E. Owens as Santa Claus gave each child a gift of candy, nuts, oranges, and pop corn balls.

L. A. to B. of R. T. met Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the L. O. O. F. hall for business and installation of officers for the coming year. Bessie Davis was installed as past president; Eva Roder, president; Gladys Weston, secretary; Lucile Olson, treasurer; Edith Langdon, chaplain; Eva Gallagher, conductress; Minnie Livingston, warden; May Sipp, inner guard; Bernice Johnson, outer guard, and Bessie Christenson, musician. ## Gifts Furnish Half of Lincoln Hospital Rooms, But Some Wards Are Still Bare

Of the fifty odd rooms and the porches of the Lincoln General hospital being furnished by individuals and organizations, almost half are being equipped as memorials. At some time or another, it has been impossible to bring a loved one back to health, and friends and relatives are furnishing rooms of health that others may be cured.

The hospital is to have single bed rooms, two bed rooms, and four bed-wards for the care of patients. At the present time, thirty-nine persons and organizations are furnishing single bed rooms, three two bed rooms, and five four bed rooms. Equipment from private sources has also been promised for a delivery room, two operating rooms, children's ward and porch, waiting rooms, two recovery rooms, porches, and nursery, as well as miscellaneous furniture for different rooms. The library is being furnished by special contributions, this work being under the direction of Dr. H. Winnett Orr.

Capitol circle of the old First Congregational church is furnishing a bed room in memory of Mrs. Mary B. Gibson, a charter member of the circle and a member of the First Congregational church. Mrs. Gibson left a share of her fortune for this hospital, then but a hope among Lincoln citizens.

Medora Stevens is being remembered by the Woman's alliance of All Souls' Unitarian church, of which she was a member. Mrs. Stevens, although in ill health much of the time, strove to increase the money left by Mrs. Gibson for the hospital.

The single rooms on the second and third floors are to be in walnut finish, as are the interiors' rooms and the rooms in the nurses' home. The front corner rooms on the second and third floors will be finished in dull green and the maternity ward, the children's department, all two bed and four bed rooms, will have ivory finish. The dressers and all tables in the rooms are of steel, finished to resemble wood.

Some Still Unfurnished.
No gifts have been made for several of the rooms. Among the more important hospital departments yet unfurnished by private subscription are a two bed room, a four bed ward, an X-ray room, two operating rooms, a couple of waiting rooms, and one or two receiving rooms.

Single bed rooms are being furnished by Mrs. Annie E. Griffith, Miss Amanda Everest, the First Christian church, Camps 916, 969, and 2266 of the Modern Woodmen of America, O. J. Peo, Mrs. Don I. Love, the Parent-Teacher association of Park school, and the Young Danish Women's club. The Dial club, a Lincoln study club, is furnishing a two bed room and the Daughters of Israel, Sesostris temple of the Shrine, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wallace are equipping a four bed ward.

Mrs. H. P. Weckesser has given one room in memory of her husband, H. P. Weckesser and Miss Melinda B. Stuart has given another as a memorial to her sister, Miss Imogene Stuart. The Randolph club, Esther Kensington, the physical education department of the Lincoln Women's club, Alpha Xi Delta, Vine camp of the Royal Neighbors, and Temple Kensington of the Eastern Star are furnishing single rooms.

The Catholic women of Lincoln have subscribed funds for a single bed room, a delivery room, and furniture for the fourth floor porch. The Rotary club, De Molay, the Tuesday Travel club, L. A. Kensington, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mellor, the Laif-a-Lot club, and the colored people of Lincoln are furnishing single bed rooms and the Lincoln Teachers' association is giving money for a two bed room.

In memory of her husband, C. H. Rudge, Mrs. Rudge is giving a four bed ward and Mrs. C. A. Lord has given a gift for a two bed room in memory of her mother, Mrs. Anna Malone. Mrs. H. J. Winnett is giving a memorial to Dr. Winnett in a single bed room and Miss Belle Beachley is furnishing another single bed room in memory of her father, Dr. Samuel J. Beachley. J. A. Gilne, nephew of Benjamin Bow, is giving a single room in Mrs. Cline's memory. J. A. Miller is giving another room in memory of his son, J. H. Miller.

Mrs. El Plummer is giving a gift of another room for Mr. Plummer and Mrs. Helen S. Fitz Gerald's gift is in her husband's memory, the Davis was elected delegate to the grand lodge, and Daisy Ayres was chosen alternate. Meetings for the year were announced for I. O. O. F. hall, the second Thursday in each month at 2:30 o'clock, and the fourth Thursday at 7:30 o'clock.

late W. D. Fitz Gerald. As a memorial to her mother, Mrs. Harriot A. Tuttle, Mrs. Landy Clark is furnishing a single bed room and Morris Friend is equipping another in memory of his wife, Mrs. Minnie Friend.

One operating room is given by the Lincoln Women's club and another by George H. Rogers for his sister, Miss Anna Rogers. The Junior league is furnishing the children's ward and porch and the Lincoln Altrusa club a waiting room. The recovery room is the gift of Chi Omega, as part of its national program of social service.

The Hawthorne P. T. A. is giving the furniture for the third floor porch and the nursery is the gift of the Jewish Sisterhood of B'Nai B'Suran.

The Thursday Morning Lecture circle is contributing funds for a recovery room and the drinking fountain and a wheel chair are being given by S. B. A. and social club K and L of S. B. A., Nos. 133 and 1056, respectively, for the deceased members. The Bancroft P. T. A. is giving a stretcher and wheel chair and the Hartley organizations a wheel chair. The Century club is also contributing a wheel chair to the hospital.

Children May Contribute.
It was felt that it was desirable that the Lincoln school children contribute to the hospital, but it was not felt wise to make the donations compulsory. Boxes were placed in the public school corridors and children could give anything from a penny to a dime, if desired. Sufficient funds were collected in this voluntary fashion to equip a four bed ward. Chapter B. Y. P. E. O., is furnishing a single bed room and the Business Women's league is giving a gift of another room for those who have passed on. Mrs. E. B. Henry is giving a single bed room and the Axis club is contributing funds for a similar room.

The music room is being furnished largely through benefit concerts given by Lincoln musicians. Mrs. Laura Schuler Smith and Carl Steckelberg have contributed to this room through their art and Mrs. H. J. Kirschstein contributed funds from a concert. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller are giving the victrola for the music room.

The Happy Thirteen met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. P. Weckesser, 1526 E. street. Bridge was the game of the afternoon. A luncheon was served at the close of the game. Mrs. J. Davidson will entertain the club in two weeks at her home, 1217 South Thirteenth street.

Octavia club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Vidlock, 114 Elmwood avenue. Bridge was the game of the afternoon, and prizes went to Mrs. George Saville and Mrs. H. S. Oxley. A two-course luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon and a color scheme of red and white was used in appointments. Mrs. George Vlasnick was chosen president for the coming year at a short business meeting following the game. The club meets in two weeks with Mrs. F. B. Schroeder, 2000 Ryons street.

Twin Six club members were entertained last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, in the evening. The game of the evening was five hundred.

The Century club is also contributing a wheel chair to the hospital.

Children May Contribute.
It was felt that it was desirable that the Lincoln school children contribute to the hospital, but it was not felt wise to make the donations compulsory. Boxes were placed in the public school corridors and children could give anything from a penny to a dime, if desired. Sufficient funds were collected in this voluntary fashion to equip a four bed ward. Chapter B. Y. P. E. O., is furnishing a single bed room and the Business Women's league is giving a gift of another room for those who have passed on. Mrs. E. B. Henry is giving a single bed room and the Axis club is contributing funds for a similar room.

The music room is being furnished largely through benefit concerts given by Lincoln musicians. Mrs. Laura Schuler Smith and Carl Steckelberg have contributed to this room through their art and Mrs. H. J. Kirschstein contributed funds from a concert. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller are giving the victrola for the music room.

The Happy Thirteen met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. P. Weckesser, 1526 E. street. Bridge was the game of the afternoon. A luncheon was served at the close of the game. Mrs. J. Davidson will entertain the club in two weeks at her home, 1217 South Thirteenth street.

Octavia club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Vidlock, 114 Elmwood avenue. Bridge was the game of the afternoon, and prizes went to Mrs. George Saville and Mrs. H. S. Oxley. A two-course luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon and a color scheme of red and white was used in appointments. Mrs. George Vlasnick was chosen president for the coming year at a short business meeting following the game. The club meets in two weeks with Mrs. F. B. Schroeder, 2000 Ryons street.

high score going to Earl Husted, and consolation to Harry Palmquist. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brown were the guests of the club. The club meets Wednesday evening at a watch party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Lee, 2340 St. Mary's avenue.

Cloverleaf Bunco club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Brophy, 2907 South Eleventh street. High scores went to Mrs. Mabel Bergman and Lloyd Saunders; with consolations to Miss Mary Mook and Miss Hazel Sherrow. The club meets Wednesday evening for a watch party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sherrow, 3117 South Fourteenth street.

GOLD & CO.

Monday at the Greater Gold's--A Big Year-End Clearaway of Coats & Dresses

A sale that's a fitting climax to a year of super value-giving at the greater Gold's! For a large portion of our higher-priced Coats and Dresses have been re-grouped and drastically underpriced, bringing to Lincoln and Nebraska women ready-to-wear values for Monday way beyond their fondest expectations! Two great clearaway groups which will go in a hurry Monday--so COME EARLY as you can!

Small, Nondescript Band Was Start of Great Musical Department At U. of N.

It must have been a festive occasion the day the University of Nebraska band paraded for the first time. Where it paraded is still a mystery, unless it was up the avenue, for there were no football games in those days, no "comp" drill, there wasn't much of anything, to tell the whole truth, not even students.

There were no uniforms, every member of the band just wore his best bib-and-tucker, and played his instrument to the best of his ability.

This was long before John Philip Sousa discovered his famous "Stars and Stripes Forever," so the band used one or two of the popular military marches of the day which probably were not so popular with those who heard this band attempt them.

The first honest-to-goodness band master, Frank Easterday, came in January of 1884, from Carthage college, Carthage, Ill., where he not only attended school, but directed the music, including the band, after he was graduated.

There was no musical organization of any kind in the university when Mr. Easterday first came, except a fragment of a band.

"There weren't so many students at that time," Mr. Easterday said, "and the boys who did play in the band knew nothing about music. I had to teach every one of them the instrument he played. You can imagine the kind of a band we had, although members of the faculty at that time were very kind and said they thought it remarkable that we could play as well as we did in such a short time."

The band was not considered a part of the military department, and some of the commanders were rather upset because boys who did not want to drill could get out of it by playing in the band. We were supposed to play for military parades and functions, and while we weren't so good, we generally managed to have some things prepared by the time the cadets learned to drill properly."

One Big Concert.

There was one large band concert given each year at the university, when a glee club trained by Mr. Easterday for the purpose would assist in the entertaining. That was the only time the glee club sang, for that was the only time there was a glee club.

In 1892 the band had uniforms, and they were quite giddy affairs. They were gray, so Mr. Easterday says, and had yards upon yards of gold braid, to say nothing of the voluminous brass buttons that helped the braid to decorate the front of the coat, and the sleeves.

But the hats—

At this particular time "Where Did You Get that Hat?" was a popular campus melody, and after seeing the array of hats in the picture of the band of 1892, we can't help but ask the same question, where did they get them. They looked as if they were said "It didn't matter in the least whether they fitted the head or not. If they were round, and soft, and funny looking that was all that was necessary."

They may have looked a trifle peculiar, but they were quite the popular young men in the school, and many of them later became some of the most prominent men in the community. One of the band members was J. B. Beecher, for instance, who later became Episcopal bishop. He played the bass drum in the early cadet band, and E. C. Hardy played the clarinet. L. C. Oberlies was past master at tuba playing, and there were many others.

Some of the best drum majors were Paul Clarke, Roscoe Pound, J. B. Beecher and Mr. Oberlies. Frank E. Buehler, Tom and George Hall, and Elton Frankforter were some of the privates in the band.

By 1885, however, the university had added music to its curriculum and engaged Miss Emma Cochran as head of the music department. Miss Cochran taught voice and piano, and had a small chorus. About 1888 G. C. Menzendorf came to the university to be the violin instructor to teach harmony theory, and take over the direction of the chorus.

Within a few years Miss Cochran and Mr. Menzendorf were married, but Mr. Menzendorf continued his work at the university. Orchestra First Organized.

Then Mr. Menzendorf organized an orchestra. The chorus and orchestra gave concerts together in the old chapel on the second floor of "U" hall.

In the chorus were twenty-one sopranos, May D. Harris, Sadie E. Beckley, Emma J. Boone, Cora Butts, M. Evelyn Chappell, Margaret Dailey, Elva Dempster, Margaret Fossler, Hattie Hardin, Stella Irvine, Maude McNeil, Carrie M. Redford, Maude Risser, Althea Roberts, Hattie V. Ruffison, May Stratton, Laura A. Stockton, Selma Weiden, Mrs. A. T. Wise.

The tenors were Charles Alexander, N. B. Barr, Oscar R. Brownman, William B. Clark, C. C. Glover, D. N. Lehmer, L. H. Martin, P. A. Powers, William Orlaf Roberts, L. E. Troyer, George H. Whaley.

Upper—A picture of one of the first University of Nebraska cadet bands. There were sixteen men and a drum major in this aggregation which was directed by Frank Easterday.

Lower—G. C. Menzendorf conducting one of the early orchestras and choruses of the University of Nebraska. Mr. Menzendorf really directed just the orchestra for Emma Cochran Menzendorf did the chorus work. Mrs. Menzendorf is at the piano.

and he insisted that the students and all of the faculty should attend. The faculty sat on the platform and Chancellor Canfield's eye would scan the group of them and if there was one member missing he heard from it late.

Devotional Well Attended.

"The convocation was in the form of devotional services, and they were well attended."

"In later years when some one else took over the convocation, things were rather mixed up. One never knew whether he would hear a lecture or a musical or what would be on the program, and the result was that the students did not attend. They didn't care for the lectures in the majority of cases so they just didn't go. Convocations were cut down from five days a week to four days a week, and later convocation was held Tuesdays and Thursdays. Now they have no convocations, and if there is some special speaker, or some occasion that requires it, I get my chorus out, and the members of the chorus are excused from classes, but other students are not excused."

"Each year I have had the chorus, with the exception of the first year, we have given one big work. I believe the first thing I did was that I gave 'St. John's Eve.' The chorus did very well with it, but I had to come down town and get as many men as I could because there was such a lack of them in the chorus."

"Chorus training was very different in those days from what it is now. Practically none of the men knew anything about music, and there were many of the girls who did not. They had to learn in a much more tedious manner than the boys and girls I have now."

The Antlers club will hold a New Year's eve party Wednesday evening at the Elks club. There will be dancing from 9 o'clock until 12 o'clock which will be followed by a midnight supper. Holiday decorations will be used as well as some that will add to the carnival atmosphere of the party. Fifty couples will attend.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lane entertained a group of friends at a Christmas party Wednesday evening at their home, 1724 Prospect street. The evening was spent in singing Christmas songs, and playing games. The hosts served refreshments at the close of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Waters entertained at a family dinner Friday evening at the University club, honoring their daughter, Florida, and John Leland Chambers, whose marriage took place yesterday afternoon. Covers were laid for fifteen. The wedding colors of green, white and silver were combined in the appointments and were repeated in the details of the meal. A white and silver Christmas tree on an oval mirror surrounded with silver leaves centered the table and the place cards of silver were adorned with tiny trees. Among the guests was Mrs. E. B. Grace of Mt. Sterling, Ill., an aunt of the groom.

Mr. Ann Rymer, 2750 W street was hostess to a number of guests at a turkey dinner Christmas day. The guests included Miss Mina Brewster of Plainview, Mrs. M. J. Kentch and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beck of Lincoln. The house was decorated to carry out the holiday idea. The turkey was a present from Mrs. Kentch, sent to her from Wyoming.

Prof. Jean Schaefer and Mme. de Villmar entertained the members of the Rialto concert orchestra at a supper party at their home, 1815 A street, Saturday evening after the theater. Covers were arranged for twelve at one large table where a holiday motif was carried out in the decorations. Large poinsettias formed the centerpiece and streamers of red satin ribbon led to each place from the centerpiece. At either end of the table were tall Christmas tapers in crystal holders. A three course supper was served after

That was Chancellor Canfield's idea.
